

PRESIDENT TO GO AHEAD IN ARMENIA MEDIATION PLANS

Suggestion of Lloyd George Is Declared Not to Have Been an Attempt to Give Official Status to Work.

ACTIVITY COULD GO ON UNDER HARDING

If Governmental Aid Is Required, Wilson Is Expected to Lay the Matter Before Congress.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Wilson plans to go ahead with his work of mediation as between Armenia and the Turkish Nationalists. So far as the information in official quarters here is concerned, there is no basis for the report that the British and French governments are trying to discourage Mr. Wilson from proceeding with the task since he is to leave the presidency within the next six weeks. The suggestion was made by Prime Minister Lloyd George that Mr. Wilson designate the American high commissioner at Constantinople to act for him and this has given rise to the belief that the British Government wanted to get the task of mediation into official channels since the American high commissioner is an officer of the Department of State and as such would continue in office beyond March 4, and his acts would be those of the United States Government.

But it is now officially explained that the Prime Minister's suggestion was made on Dec. 2 in a note to a council of the League of Nations before word reached the other side and that Mr. Wilson had decided to appoint former Ambassador Henry Morgenthau. The note reached here only a few days ago, having been forwarded through the council of the league and thus delayed. British officials here say the suggestion was made as a supplementary proposal rather than as an alternative proposal and that there was no desire on the part of the Prime Minister to change the spirit of the decision of the league council to accept Mr. Wilson as mediator.

Council's Acknowledgment.
It is pointed out at the State Department that the League Council formally acknowledged Mr. Wilson's message, in which he said he could not act for the Government of the United States, but only as a private individual, and could not, of course, furnish troops or any other power to back up the decisions he might make. Mr. Wilson, moreover, asked for the moral support of all the Governments on the council of the league, so that his decisions would be backed up. The league, in acknowledging Mr. Wilson's message, replied that it would be glad to have him serve.

From this exchange of messages officials here are proceeding on the theory that all is smooth and that the Governments of Europe fully understand the unique position in which President Wilson is placed by reason of his retirement from office on March 4, by which time, of course, hardly a beginning could be made in the task of mediation. It is understood that, for the time being at least, Morgenthau, who will represent the President in the negotiations between the Armenians and the Turkish Nationalists, will pay his own expenses, though no doubt the League of Nations will subsequently reimburse him.

It is not improbable that Mr. Wilson may ask the next administration to continue the work of mediation if the matter requires governmental machinery and cannot be handled as a personal mediation, though this is not expected.

Governments Not Involved.
There have been many instances in which distinguished statesmen and jurists have been requested to act as mediators in international disputes and their Governments have been in no way involved. It is the reliance of both sides in the fairness of the individual, rather than the physical help of his Government, which is most desired in mediating disputes.

The President's decision to become mediator was approved pretty generally by the American press, irrespective of party, on the ground that anything that might be done to help the cause of the Armenians who have suffered so much would be a step toward solving the near eastern problems which American missionaries have labored so long to stimulate the processes of civilization.

Senator Harding is making no secret of his disapproval. He mentioned it in a brief speech to his fellow Masses in Columbus a day or two ago and it is one of the reasons he is looking for a new cabinet. The cabinet difficulties have caused a postponement in the tentative date for

UNEMPLOYED FORCE ENGLISH CITY TO FEED THEM AND CHARGE COST TO TAXES

"Guardians" in Norwich Double Assessments for Relief Under the Poor Law After Threat of Direct Action.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Growing seriousness of the unemployment problem in Great Britain was emphasized by the action of the unemployed in the city of Norwich in availing themselves of the provisions of the existing poor law and demanding support from the local "guardians," officials who administer relief to the needy, charging the cost upon local taxes.

The "guardians" recently decided not to increase the scale of relief payers unable to afford it, but the Chief of Police notified them that he had received a communication to the effect that if help was not granted the unemployed had determined to use "direct action."

Under this threat the "guardians" yielded and doubled the taxes applicable to feeding the poor. In doing so, the chairman of the "guardians" remarked it was the first time in the history of the city that the police had been overawed by threats from the unemployed.

The burden thus placed upon the departure from Marlon, and it is said now it will be the twentieth of the month or later before the President-elect leaves for Florida for a period of much needed rest and the seclusion he desires while preparing his inaugural address.

To Decide on Cabinet First.
It is certain Senator Harding desires to organize his Cabinet before his vacation starts. It would not be much of a vacation if he were subjected to a continuance of the present pulling and hauling.

Political enemies are attacking Mr. Harding and his cabinet. The "guardians" are attacking Mr. Harding and his cabinet. The "guardians" are attacking Mr. Harding and his cabinet.

CORK MAYOR FREE TO TESTIFY ON IRISH QUESTION

Parole Granted by Secretary Wilson Believed to Insure Opportunity for O'Callaghan to Appear.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Regardless of what final action is taken on the inadmissibility to this country of Daniel J. O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, who arrived at Newport News Tuesday night as a stowaway without a passport, developments of the last 24 hours appeared to indicate that the achievement of the purpose for which he came here. Action of Secretary of Labor Wilson yesterday in paroling O'Callaghan, on his own recognition waiving the passport restrictions in the committee of the Commission of One Hundred investigating the Irish question on January 17, the date of the next meeting.

With O'Callaghan's case not yet having been formally referred to the State Department by the Department of Labor, the fact that the former department, as indicated by acting Secretary Davis, was not disposed to waive the passport restrictions in the Lord Mayor's favor, had no bearing today on his status. Declaring that the Lord Mayor's parole left nothing to prevent his coming to Washington to testify before the commission even though he should finally be deported, Secretary Davis said the Labor Secretary's parole order had been issued without consultation with the State Department.

Although Secretary Wilson early today had taken no formal action on O'Callaghan's appeal from the decision of the board of inquiry at Newport News excluding him from this country, it was understood that on account of the friction which was said to have developed between the State and Labor departments over the inadmissibility of aliens without passports, the Labor Secretary would sustain the appeal without referring the case to the State Department.

O'Callaghan Tells How He Ended
British Solidarity at Cork.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 7.—The story of how Daniel J. O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, who came here late yesterday from Newport News with Peter MacSwiney, brother of the late Lord Mayor.

"Getting aboard ship was not so difficult as I may seem to depict," O'Callaghan said. "Dressed as a laborer, I hung around the quays for about an hour, watching my chance. Many of the crew were absent from the ship, and when I saw my chance I climbed a ladder and slipped aboard and into the hold." He added that MacSwiney had boarded the ship ahead of him.

O'Callaghan and MacSwiney were guests of the Friends of Irish Freedom here last night and expect to go to New York today.

After boarding ship, O'Callaghan said, he remained concealed for seven days in a bunker until driven out by seasickness. MacSwiney also was a stowaway for three days, he said, but finally came out of hiding and was put to work in the forecastle. Through him, O'Callaghan said he received food for four days.

"When Mr. MacSwiney made his presence known, calling himself Milligan, our small store of food was about out," O'Callaghan continued.

"He was put to work at once, and it was comparatively easy for him to reach the bunkers with food and water for me. I would have made out all right, but the ship was rolling very badly and I was seasick, and I succumbed to the seasickness. Finally I determined to lie down where the air was better, and went to a bunk where the watch was on duty. One fellow, however, came down and discovered me. Despite my sickness I went to work with Mr. MacSwiney."

The pictures were taken Christmas morning at the Coliseum where 800 children were entertained by 913 playground children under the auspices of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund and the St. Louis Playgrounds Dept.

J. Harry Yeager filmed the pictures for the Post-Dispatch, E. Bailey for the Commercial Appeal and the Post-Dispatch, and Ray Anderson for the Post-Dispatch.

Testimony at the Ellis Murder Trial

on the lot; won't you bring her home?"

"Then I went over to where the crowd was on the lot, and I saw them lifting her. I said: 'Oh, my God! Is she dead?' Then I saw where she was cut, and I cried: 'What! the world have they done to my girl! Somebody took me home then, and that's all I know.'"

At this point, at 12:55 p. m., an hour's recess for lunch was taken.

Mrs. Ellis, assuming her testimony after the noon recess, was called on to identify the garments worn by Edna at the time of the murder. She first described the garments, which were then shown to her. She named a Pekin blue coat, midnight blue serge dress, black satin pumps and silk stockings, and said Edna carried a red canteen, containing keys, powder and change.

When the soiled and stained blue coat was shown to her for identification, Mrs. Ellis exclaimed, "Poor Edna." Then she rose and pointed at Albert Ellis, and speaking loudly, but not distinctly, said something which sounded like, "It wouldn't have been that way if it wasn't for you."

The judge asked Mrs. Ellis to calm herself. Attorney Bates, a moment later, asked reporters if Ellis, who appeared unmoved by the mother's sudden outburst, was showing the demeanor of a guilty man.

Mrs. Ellis said the canteen carried by her daughter was in good condition when she left home. As it is now, the top is torn off and the mirror within is broken. The handkerchief which was stained, was the one, Mrs. Ellis said, which she had ironed the day before the murder.

Edna's gloves, which were cut and stained, were recognized by her mother. Three pieces of white cambric underwear were taken by the mother with reluctance, as Attorney O'Brien held them before her. Mrs. Ellis said, as to the blue coat, that Albert Ellis had been with her and Edna when it was purchased, before last Easter.

"How long have you known Albert Ellis?" Mrs. Ellis was asked.

"Since August, 1918," she said. "He has lived here after that." She said their home had been successively at 5424 Theodosia avenue, 1413A Academy avenue, and then on Garrison avenue.

Asked About Razor.
Mrs. Ellis was asked if she ever saw Ellis have a razor when he was living at her home. "Yes," she answered, "he had a straight razor and a safety. He shaved with the straight razor one day, but then he broke it and the ash pit showed he found a nick in the blade. Later he got it back. I have the safety."

Mrs. Ellis said the last time she saw Ellis was in May, on a Grand avenue car, and she was standing at Grand avenue and North Market street. "He never visited us," she said. "He had wanted to marry Edna. He and I had talked about it. He said he wanted to live with them the first year, so that Edna could learn housekeeping. I told him I would not live within a mile of them, because I knew he would treat her right."

Jury Is Selected.
The selection of the jury was completed soon after noon, convened at 10 o'clock. The first three days of this week were spent in obtaining a list of 47 men eligible for the jury, and the counsel prepared their challenges yesterday, the defense striking out 20, and the State 15. The jury will be kept together until the conclusion of the trial.

Judge Hartmann's courtroom, No. 12, is on the third floor of the Municipal Courts Building. Besides the main entrance from the corridor, it has rear and side entrances, through a rear hallway and through the offices of the Park Department.

When the janitor opened the courtroom at 4 p. m., six men and five women were waiting to get in. They took front seats, and from that time the crowd grew steadily, until at 8:30 a. m. with the regular seats and extra side benches filled, the attendants began excluding newcomers.

The courtroom gathering, as well as the corridor crowd, was composed almost wholly of young people, young men being in the majority among the crowd. At 8:30 a. m. the young women had the appearance of store and office employees—Edna Ellis was a stenographer. Some of the young men were of a type seen in dance halls.

Some of those in the corridor, after trying repeatedly to get into the courtroom, found places at a window, across an open space from the courtroom, from which they were able to peer into the courtroom. The window was lined with faces continuously.

When those in the corridor found a frontal attack on the main door useless, they began flank movements, and some succeeded in entering the courtroom by rear and side entrances. They went up in the small automatic elevator used for carrying prisoners to the courtroom, and some, who were acquainted with lawyers practicing in the court, attempted to take seats at the counsel and press table.

A police sergeant and five patrolmen helped in keeping the corridor crowd outside after the seats were filled. At the noon recess, the courtroom was cleared and locked, though some persons showed a desire to hold their seats at the cost of missing lunch.

The jury was selected. The defense has 70 witnesses on its list, and the State 45, but there are duplications which make the entire number less than 100.

Mrs. Albert Ellis, mother of the murdered girl, sat in the attorney's enclosure. She was dressed entirely in black, wearing a black veil and carrying a handbag. She was accompanied by Miss Katherine Norton of 3855 Labadie avenue, who was employed with Edna Ellis in the downtown office of the Bell Telephone Co., and with whom Edna rode, on the night of the murder, on a Cass car to Glasgow avenue and North Market street.

Ellis Not Disconcerted.
Ellis was brought into the courtroom soon after the judge entered at 10 o'clock. He did not appear to be disconcerted by the glances and whispers of the crowd. He was dressed in a green suit, with a red stripe, and wore a soft collar, blue necktie and the brown shoes which, after the murder, were fitted into the footprints near the scene of the crime. He listened to the reading of the indictment without altering his expression of comparative indifference.

Ellis' stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kalthaler, and a young half-sister, were in the witness seats when court opened, but were escorted out with the other witnesses.

As Mrs. Kalthaler was passing through the inclosure to the witness room she bent over her son and kissed him. With her was Miss Winifred Younger of 3713 North Twenty-fifth street, to whom Ellis has said he is engaged, and at whose home he called on the night of the murder. He put out his hand to Miss Younger and she took it, and then kissed him.

Circuit Attorney Siderer is assisted by Thomas J. O'Brien, Assistant Circuit Attorney, who has been replaced by Attorney McDonald and has been reappointed temporarily. Attorney Bates, for the defense, is assisted by Thomas M. Garrison.

Attorney Bates, soon after court opened, made a request that the special guard of policemen be removed from the room, and that extra deputy sheriffs be called, if necessary, to keep order. He spoke of the policemen as "members of the mob" which intimidated the defendant. Judge Hartmann, in overruling this motion, told Bates he should not introduce assertions about the conduct of the police in advance of the presentation of his testimony.

State Outlines Case.
In the Circuit Attorney's opening statement to the jury, setting forth what the State expects to prove, the first controversy with the defense arose over the defendant's confession, which Ellis first signed and then repudiated. The Circuit Attorney did not attempt to outline the formal confession directly, but told of the statement which Ellis made to police men before the formal confession was prepared. Attorney Bates objected to this at every stage.

When the Circuit Attorney, in telling of the questioning of Ellis, said that Ellis finally broke down and confessed, Bates moved that the jury be dismissed. The Court overruled this motion.

The Circuit Attorney described Edna Ellis' late ride home from her place of employment, and her passing, when the car reached North Market street, from her friend, Miss Norton.

"As the car went on and left her," Siderer said, "she passed out of the crowd of witnesses, and she was alone. Early the next morning, her body was found on the vacant lot, her throat cut from ear to ear, and her hands cut to the bone."

Blue prints showing the location of the scene of the murder, in relation to the girl's home, to adjoining buildings and to the street car line, were in the Circuit Attorney's hands, but were not displayed to the jury, being reserved to fit into the testimony.

Continuing his statement, Siderer said the State expected to prove that Ellis had been taken to the scene of the murder, and just exactly what was said and done by him on the ground of the murder, in relation to the Dayton Street Police Station he made a detailed statement of the crime.

Here Attorney Bates objected to the statement of the crime.

any reference to a confession. His objection was overruled.

"I'll make it stronger," Siderer resumed. "The State expects to introduce a confession."

Bates again interrupted with an objection, which also was overruled.

Siderer resumed, saying the State would introduce a voluntary supplemental confession. This was also objected to, the objection being overruled. Siderer continued that the State would attempt to show that Ellis told his father and uncle he committed the crime, and that he made similar statements to other persons in the jail and police hold-over. All this was also objected to, and overruled.

Tells of Previous Quarrel.
Siderer said the State expected to show that about a week prior to the night of the murder the defendant was seen with the deceased at Garrison avenue, North Market street, and that heated words passed between them; that the defendant told Edna Ellis on that occasion, "You can go to hell."

Bates moved that the introduction of the above conversations, which was overruled.

"And if we prove these things," Siderer concluded, "we shall ask you to convict the defendant."

Bates moved that all of Siderer's statement be stricken from the record, asserting it had prejudiced the jury, and requested the jury be discharged. The objection was overruled.

The defense deferred making its opening statement to the jury, and the first witness, Dr. B. W. Klippel, was introduced.

Dr. Klippel, coroner's autopsy physician, testified about the wounds suffered by Miss Ellis as revealed by his post-mortem examination.

The wound which caused death was described as a cut which at its deepest point was one and one-half inches. It began, Dr. Klippel said, at the lobe of the left ear, severed the mastoid muscle on the left side and the jugular vein and, crossing the middle of the neck, severed the larynx and thereafter became more superficial, although it partially severed the tracheal muscle on the right side. It traced off to a slight wound near the lobe of the right ear. He said that Miss Ellis also suffered what commonly are designated as blunt eyes.

There also was a contusion on the head which he described as a notch of the scalp, and he noted that the girl's ears and nostrils contained clotted blood.

Dr. Klippel said he found no evidence of a criminal assault on the

ARE COMPANY

APARTMENT JANITOR BOUND BY ROBBERS

After Wiggling Until Handkerchief Gag Is Moved, He Calls for Help.

Residents of an apartment house at 326 Maple place, hearing calls from the basement last night at 6:30 o'clock, found the janitor, Henry Spott, 60 years old, tied in a rocking chair in a small room which he occupies.

He said that at 6 o'clock two men with revolvers had appeared in his room and had demanded to know where he kept his money. He told them, he said, that he had no money. They took $5 from him, he said, then bound him in the chair and tied a handkerchief over his mouth. They searched his room for money and, finding none, he said, took clothes valued at $100 and departed. He wiggled until he got the handkerchief away from his mouth and then called for help.

Grocer and Customers Held Up.
Two men with revolvers at 6 p. m. held up the grocery and meat market of William Brockman at 605 North Ewing avenue, taking $50 from two cash registers and the following amounts from customers: Nellie Jones, 2302 Lucas avenue, a negro, $4.50; William Shelton, 2312 Washington avenue, $2.50, and Emanuel Breckner, 615 North Ewing avenue, $6.

Otto Meestemacher of 3111 North Twelfth street, manager of a Piggy-Wiggy store at 5155 Easton avenue, reported to the police yesterday at 4 p. m. the disappearance of a box containing $225.24 from the cashier's cage in the store. He said that shortly after noon the cashier, Miss Ethel Good, 5203 Cates avenue, had left the cage for a few minutes, and that he presumed someone had reached into the cage and taken the box at that time.

Negro Tries on Overcoat; Takes It.
A negro tried on an overcoat in the tailor shop of Joseph Berson at 328 North Jefferson avenue yesterday and then, displaying a revolver, walked out wearing the coat, which was valued at $50.

Thomas Terry of Granite City reported that he was robbed of $14 by a negro at Nineteenth and Pine streets at 9 p. m.

James Carleton, 18, of 3899 Chimes avenue, reported that he was searched by two robbers at Enright and Belt avenues at 10:20 p. m. but that they got nothing.

ATTORNEY'S FEE TO AID CLIENTS

Advanced by Allen Custodian to Buy Food for Heirs in Austria.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 7.—An attorney's fee occupied the anomalous position here today of enriching those who ultimately must pay it, rather than reducing their possessions.

The fee was that of Charles A. Adams, attorney for the estate of Wilhelmina Gorgor, an Austrian. The estate, worth $4000 in value, was left by Miss Gorgor to her relatives in Austria. It had been impounded by the alien property custodian and Adams, informing the court that the woman's heirs were suffering from lack of food, with no prospect of obtaining immediately the money she had left them, asked that his fee be set at the maximum allowed by law, $250, that he might use it to buy food for them. The court acquiesced and Adams obligated himself to buy the drafts as soon as the money is paid to him.

You never hear any alibis when you discover a Victrola in the home of a friend.

This combination is offered today.

BLOOD KILLS DISEASE GERMS

Pure, Healthy Blood Destroys Germs, Removes the Waste Tissues and Rebuilds Bone and Muscle

If Your Blood Is Weak, Don't Delay

Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the Red Blood Purifier

In your body are two gallons (more or less) of blood, which is constantly at work keeping your system free of germs, removing the waste tissues, and building up new strength in bone and muscle.

This blood must be healthy or your resistance to disease and fatigue will be lowered, you will lose weight, and both body and mind will have less vigor.

For building up blood weakened by overwork, illness or other causes, Gude's Pepto-Mangan, for years prescribed by physicians, is now generally known as a prompt and harmless tonic.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan soon produces marked beneficial results. The tired, worn-out, run-down feeling disappears. And in its stead a vigorous wholesomeness and happiness proves that the blood has been supplied with the sorely needed richness to supply the entire system with renewed strength.

When you buy Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's, be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. You can get it in either liquid or tablet form. If the name "Gude's" is not on the package it is not Pepto-Mangan.

SCOUTING PARTIES GO IN QUEST OF AERONAUTS

American Naval Officers Expected to Appear at One of Three Places Today.

By the Associated Press.

COCHRANE, Ontario, Jan. 7.—Scouting parties of veteran trappers, Indians and newspaper correspondents today are pushing along various circuitous trails northward in the hope of intercepting the three United States naval balloonists who are trekking back to civilization from Moose Factory, where they landed Dec. 14 after a hazardous flight from Rockaway, N. Y.

Lack of actual knowledge of the aeronauts' progress and impatience to hear first hand the narrative of their thrilling drift through stormy clouds and of their battle against cold and starvation after landing led the scouting squads to follow up their several speculations regarding the route chosen by the officers' Indian guides. It was generally agreed here today that, barring unforeseen trouble, the balloonists should arrive by tonight at either Clute, Mattice or Cochrane.

Postmaster W. A. Goulding at Clute was in such a state of expectancy all yesterday afternoon and last night that a party set out from there early this morning, fully confident of meeting the southbound party without going far afield. The failure of the balloonists to arrive last night did not shake his confidence that Clute was chosen as the destination of the Indian guides.

The special Pullman car for newspaper correspondents, however, was kept here, with steam up, ready to rush to any point reporting the aeronauts' arrival. Many men here acquainted with the North country still cling to the belief that either the Massanibi or Abitibi River trails were chosen. The former would bring the party out at Mattice and the latter terminates here.

SENATOR PHELAN SAYS BRITAIN "EMULATED HUN" IN OIL DEALS

California Declares Britain Used Own Money to Buy Oil Fields While Borrowing in U. S. for Needs.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Great Britain was accused of "emulating the Hun" in pursuing her post-war policy by Senator Phelan, Democrat of California, speaking in the Senate yesterday after Senator McKellar, Tennessee, had advocated cutting off the British supply of American oil unless Americans were accorded equal rights with British subjects in the purchase and development of world oil supplies.

The California Senator added to his accusation the charge that Great Britain, at the same moment she was appealing for American aid during the war, declaring her "back was to the wall," was buying up oil lands in other countries. With this charge Senator Phelan coupled another, to the effect that Great Britain had obtained $4,000,000,000 in loans from the United States since the war, and was using the money to acquire a monopoly of the world oil supply.

Senator McKellar previously had declared that Great Britain was putting forward claims of inability to pay interest on American war loans and was buying up the world oil resources. England, while buying up these oil resources, McKellar said, was using American oil and saving her own supplies for the future.

Senator McKellar urged immediate action on his bill proposing reciprocity as regards oil with those nations which do not discriminate against American citizens and retaliation against those nations that do. Senator Phelan declared the Japanese were buying oil from British companies in California for $1.40 a barrel, while Californians were being charged $2.40 a barrel.

CARD INDEX FOR LIQUOR BUYERS

Internal Revenue Bureau Issues Instructions to Directors.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Purchasers of liquor are to be card-indexed by Federal prohibition directors under instructions issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Directors will be required to prepare cards for each person entitled to procure intoxicating liquor in his state. Data on the cards will show the amount of liquor on hand, the amount and kind of liquor bought, the amount shipped and delivered, and the name of the person issuing the permit.

WAR FINANCE CORPORATION TO AWAIT REQUESTS FOR LOANS

Secretary Houston Says He Will Not Borrow Funds Until Amount Required is Indicated.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The war finance corporation is open for business, Secretary Houston said yesterday, adding that the corporation would carry out the law creating it in the spirit in which the statute was drawn as a result of the action of Congress in overriding the President's veto of the resolution to revive the corporation's activities.

The Treasury Secretary said the means to be adopted by the corporation in making advances to exporters would not be determined until it was known what needs the corporation would be called upon to meet. Funds for making the loans must be borrowed by the corporation or the Treasury, he said, but until it is known how much money will be required it would be poor policy to pay interest on the loan fund. The corporation, therefore, will wait until applications for advances under the terms of the law are made, he added.

U. S. Treasurer Resigns

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—John Burke, Treasurer of the United States since 1913, retired today, his resignation having been accepted by President Wilson. Mr. Burke has entered a New York banking firm—Guy F. Allen, Assistant Treasurer, became Acting Treasurer, and it was learned that President Wilson does not contemplate making an appointment to the vacancy, leaving it to be filled by President-elect Harding.

Buying an Income for Old Age, When Personal Earning Stops

Among the thousands of Missouri men and women who have bought Union Electric 7% preferred stock during the past three years, a great many are buying the income that will make them safe, comfortable and independent in old age.

They know this business is PERMANENT—because it is an indispensable public service. They know it is honestly capitalized, as proven by a thorough State appraisal. They know it cannot issue any security except with the State's approval, for purposes approved by the State. They know the business is honestly and well managed. They know its relations with its employees and its customers are fair and friendly. They know that while the business remains in corporate ownership, under State regulation, its 7% preferred stock dividends are little if any less certain than the income from Government bonds, which pay much less than 7% interest. They know that if City or State ever buys the business, their preferred stock shares will INCREASE in market value, because of the placing of public credit back of the business. Knowing these facts, these investors who are buying income for old age regard Union Electric 7% preferred stock as thoroughly safe for that purpose.

Meanwhile they have the satisfaction of knowing that their savings, so invested, help to develop the State they live in; help to make more work and wages here in Missouri.

The price is par, $100 a share for cash, or $102 a share on a ten-payment plan, under which buyers pay $10.20 a share down and $10.20 a month for nine months and draw 5% interest on their installment payments with the privilege of withdrawing all such payments, WITH INTEREST, any time before the last payment is made.

SALES OFFICES

Room 201 Union Electric Bldg., 12th and Locust Sts., St. Louis, and Union Electric's offices in St. Louis, St. Charles, Franklin, Jefferson and Perry Counties. Mail orders filled promptly by registered letter. If it is not convenient for you to visit one of our offices, mail or telephone us your name and address and we will send a salesman or a circular, as you prefer, to explain this offer in detail.

CHARM, SENTIMENT AND HUMOR IN DUAL RECITAL AT M. A. A.

Miss May Peterson, Lyric Soprano, and Lambert Murphy, Concert Tenor, Present Program. Charm, sentiment and humor abounded in an attractive recital given last night at the Missouri Athletic Association by Miss May Peterson, lyric soprano of the Metropolitan, and Lambert Murphy, a concert tenor of esteem. Between them, they provided about two dozen numbers—some unfamiliar, some classic, many picturesque, and all interesting. Both singers are very effective vocal elocutionists.

From a previous recital here are remembered Miss Peterson's high, clear and true soprano, with its lovely head tones, and also her vivacity, tenderness and pleasant comedy of interpretation. Thanks are owed to her for resurrecting an almost unknown aria, from Bach's "Phoebe et Pan"—a sort of "Mastersingers" on a classic Greek theme—in which Momus, a mythological Beckmesser, sings a ludicrous ditty in the Olympian competition of song. Among her selections were Scotch, French-Canadian, Swedish, Indian

AFTER THE "FLU" OR ANY SEVERE SICKNESS

You Need Vinol to Enrich and Revitalize Your Blood and Restore Your Strength

There Is Nothing Like It, So Nothing Else Will Do

There is just one great drawback to recovery for a person who has been sick, and that is poor, devitalized blood and consequent weakness, and this condition is characterized by prostration, nervousness and depleted strength.

We believe our non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, VINOL, to be the best remedy in the world to hasten recovery and build up health and strength. In a natural manner VINOL creates red corpuscles and enriches the blood, quickens circulation, increases the appetite, promotes sound, refreshing sleep, and soon the entire system is filled with renewed life, vitality and energy.

Mrs. Chas. Moore, Warsaw, Ind., says: "Infantina left so weak she could hardly walk, but Vinol quickly restored her strength, the same as it has for a great many of her friends who have been ill."

For all run-down, nervous, anemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children there is no remedy like VINOL. Wolff-Willson Drug Co.

and negro folk-songs, besides several excellent lyrics by American composers. Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" was given with fervor. Lambert began his program with a ringing voice, ardor of temperament and fine taste of expression and method, as in two notable songs by Foudrain, and "Christ in Flanders," by Ward-Stephens. Something of strain was noticeable when he reached the aria, "Voi Griseidis," from Massenet's "Griseidis," and soon a certain huskiness and unsteady intonation appeared. Lambert is much addicted to the falsetto. One of his groups consisted of Irish songs. The final number was the duet, "Parle-moi de ma mere," from the first act of "Carmen," with Miss Peterson singing Micaela's music and Lambert that of Don Jose. Here again the tenor seemed to stray slightly from the pitch; also, an unexpected clash of timbre prevented his voice from blending with the soprano's. There was a numerous attendance of members and guests, who showed unabating interest throughout.

15 Years for 19-Cent Robbery. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 7.—A robbery netting him 19 cents brought to Albert R. Patters, 24 years old, a sentence of 15 years in the State penitentiary when he pleaded guilty in Criminal Court here yesterday. Patters participated in robbing a grocery store.

We will pay a reward of $1.00 to the first person bringing to our attention any garment priced higher here than the identical garment is priced elsewhere.

BOLSHEVIKI DEMAND RELIEF ACCOUNTING IN ARMENIA

Soviet Representative at Kara Calls All Workers Into Conference.

By the Associated Press. CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 7.—Near East Relief representatives at Kara, Armenia, have been called into conference by the Soviet representative there, and asked to give an accurate accounting of all property and supplies owned by the organization in that region. The relief workers were told they might carry on their work in Armenia, providing they avoided counter revolutionary activities.

So far as known, there are 30 relief workers in Kara, two in Alexandropol, one in Karaklis and one in Erivan.

Owing to the presence of powerful Russian forces in Armenia, the Erivan Government is reported to have decided upon the demobilization of its entire army and the substitution of a Bolshevik army organized along Soviet lines. Three hundred Armenian officers are declared to have left for Moscow, where they will be distributed among Russian military academies.

An educational train is said to have arrived at Erivan for the purpose of converting Armenian peasants and workers to communism. The chief Communists of Armenia have completed preparations for the first Armenian Soviet Congress, which will meet soon, and deal with the reconstruction of the country.

COMMISSION TO CONTROL WHEAT

Farmers' Board Will Direct Marketing of 500,000,000 Bushels.

By the Associated Press. WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 7.—Creation of a sales commission which will have charge of marketing some five hundred million bushels of wheat raised by members of the National Wheat Growers' Association, was decided on yesterday at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Association. It was announced that the plan was the outgrowth of the recent farmers' "strike," when the Association issued a proclamation calling on its members to withhold wheat from the market until the price reached $2 a bushel.

The commission will determine the amount of wheat to be marketed in each state, each month, to provide a steady flow of wheat throughout the year, rather than a hasty marketing of all grain at harvest time. Money will be raised to tide over the farmers by obtaining loans on receipts of bonded warehouses operated by the Association.

Create a Trust for your family's sake

It would be a fine thing, would it not, to put your wife in possession of an income in her own right?

An income all hers; funds for personal expenses coming regularly without calling on you; an "allowance" paid periodically by check of this company, conferred absolutely upon her, always assured, no matter what reverses overtake you.

Such a thing is quite possible, even to the man of moderate means. It is no drawback if you cannot set aside now the principal necessary to the accomplishment of this object.

The "Mercantile Trust Plan" is one by which you can capitalize part of your income for this or any other purpose. You can accomplish by degrees what most men fail to accomplish, because they think a trust fund must be endowed all at once.

Ask for booklet the "Mercantile Trust Plan" for creating and enlarging an estate.

CROWDER HAS FIRST MEETING WITH MENOCAL

Cuban Secretary of State Says He Is Happy That General Is in Havana.

By the Associated Press. HAVANA, Jan. 7.—Gen. Enoch Crowder, accompanied by Boaz W. Long, the United States Minister to Cuba, and the Captain of the cruiser Minnesota and his aids, went to the palace at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, where Gen. Crowder conferred with President Menocal. Gen. Crowder declined to make any statement concerning his mission. The General will be quartered on board the Minnesota during his stay in Cuba. Dr. Pablo Desvergne, the Cuban Secretary of State, did not attend the conference. He declared, however, that it was cordial and that he was happy that Gen. Crowder had come to Havana. As a result of an almost nationwide contest over the presidential elections held early in November, Cuba may be called upon to face an unusual and embarrassing problem on May 20 next, when the term of President Menocal expires. So voluminous have been appeals filed by the Liberal party, and so involved is the situation that the judicial machinery of the Republic is virtually closed, and no one can forecast the outcome with any degree of accuracy. In case the courts and election boards are unable to dig themselves out from beneath the mountain of appeals now on file, there are many who express the fear that the republic may be without an elected chief executive when President Menocal's office. Rumors that Dr. Alfred Zayas, whose election in November is claimed by the National League, would be named Secretary of State, so that he might succeed automatically to the presidency, have been dropped since it was pointed out the term of the Secretary would expire with that of the President. If Dr. Zayas should be unable to act, the President of the Senate ordinarily would become President ad interim, but hundreds of appeals against the election of members to both the national legislative bodies have been filed, and Congress may find itself unable to convene and organize. Should this contingency develop, it is held the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Cuba would temporarily assume the presidential office.

CAUGHT WHILE EMBRACING WIFE

Escaped Bank Robber Suspect Taken on Station Platform. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Harry L. Ritzberger, alleged Milltown (N. J.) bank robber, who sawed his way out of New York's West Side prison last Monday, was brought back last night from Providence, R. I., where he was captured while embracing his wife. Mrs. Ritzberger, who had been trailed by detectives from Boston to the Rhode Island city, accompanied her husband to police headquarters. According to detectives who caught Ritzberger, he intended originally to meet his wife at Boston, but noticing several men watching him he decided to meet her in Providence. He knelt the car seat Mrs. Ritzberger was in, and just before the train pulled out of the Providence Union Station signaled her and she alighted. The detectives waited until Ritzberger kissed his wife, and then with drawn revolvers, one of them held him at bay and another slipped handcuffs on his wrists.

ROOSEVELT CORNERSTONE LAID

Ceremony at His Birthplace by Women's Memorial Body. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The second anniversary of the death of Theodore Roosevelt was observed here yesterday by the laying of the cornerstone of the Roosevelt House. This building will be erected on the site of the former President's birthplace, by the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association. The movement is sponsored for the purpose of perpetuating Theodore Roosevelt's memory and as an incentive for American youth to imitate the ideals of good citizenship. In the presence of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President, Theodore Roosevelt, his son, and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, his sister, Major-General Leonard Wood placed the cornerstone in position. Many foreign notables were present, including Ambassadors Jusserand of France, De Marchienne of Belgium, and De Alencar of Brazil, and Gen. Robert Georges Nivelle of the French army.

UPPER RHINE RIVER GOES DRY

No Water Connection Between Basel and Strasbourg Since Nov. 18. GENEVA, Jan. 7.—The Upper Rhine River has virtually gone dry and there has been no water connection between Basel and Strasbourg since Nov. 18. A large number of boats have been stranded as a result. The depth of water at Kehl is only 90 centimeters (35 1/2 inches) and at other places it has dropped to 50 centimeters. The hitherto extensive river trade is at a standstill, fish can be caught by hand and dangerous sand banks are piling up. Such a situation has not existed before in 120 years, the records reveal. Curious incidents are happening daily. Undesirable Germans expelled by the French from Alsace and Lorraine now are able to talk to relatives on 'the opposite bank from the middle of the dried up river. There also is some exchange of contraband goods going on.

TWO WOMEN LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

Several Other Persons Injured in Blaze at Traverse City, Mich. By the Associated Press. TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., Jan. 7.—One woman was killed, another died in being taken to a hospital, several other persons were injured and firemen overcame by smoke in a blaze late yesterday in the Wilhelm block, a five-story structure, which was destroyed with a loss of $75,000. Miss Leona Way, 22 years old, fell five stories to the pavement when firemen were attempting to rescue her from the roof. Mrs. Patrick Dockery, 74, was overcome by smoke and died on the way to a hospital. The fire originated from a backfire in the heating plant, according to Fire Chief Newman, filling the corridors with smoke and gas. One hundred and fifty persons were in the building when the fire started.

ELECTION CONTEST NOTICE
SERVED ON HAWES BY BOGY

Republican Charges Irregularities in Count of Votes in Eleventh Congressional District.

Notice has been served on Max
Harry B. Hawes, Democratic Congressman-elect from the Eleventh District, that his election will be contested by Bernard P. Bogy, Republican, who, on the face of the official returns, was defeated by Hawes by 2134 votes. The notice was a subpoena, summoning Hawes to appear Tuesday next before the Board of Election Commissioners for the taking of depositions in the proceeding.
In his notice to contest Bogy charges irregularities in the count of votes.
Hawes issued a statement in which he said the contest would be a joke were it not that it will be expensive, annoying and time-consuming. He pointed out that this majority was widely distributed, which, he said, ought to dispose of a charge of illegality, and said he had not heard of one prominent Republican approving Bogy's action.

SHOE PLANT REPORTS IT HAS FULL FORCE AFTER STRIKE

100 Employees of Brauer Bros.
Walked Out After Institution of Open Shop Plan and Wage Cut.
A. J. Brauer, president of the Brauer Brothers Shoe Company, Fourteenth and Pine streets, today announced that he had obtained sufficient help to continue operation of the company's plant. One hundred men employed in the shoe department quit work Monday, when the company announced it had adopted the open shop policy and that wages would be reduced from 10 to 15 per cent.

Yesterday members of United Shoe Workers' Union began picketing the shop. Union officials said that the strike was due primarily to the open shop question, instead of the question of the cut in wages.
Brauer explained that the open shop policy was instituted because his firm could not operate successfully under union interference. He said the strike did not affect the 40 employees in the sporting goods department, which has always been conducted on the open shop basis.

GOLD-TRIMMED SHOES AT $100

By the Associated Press.
NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Jan. 6.—
Two pairs of shoes designed to sell at retail for $100 a pair and said to be the most expensive ever made in this State, are exhibited at a factory here. One pair is made of patent leather with pure gold leaf lining and gold underlining of all perforations, gold hooks and eyes, and has a $30 gold piece inserted in the heel on each shoe.
The other pair is made with an lining of bright red satin and a gold watch of the wrist type inserted in the left shoe just above the ankle.

LIFE WITH RAZOR
Had Been Ill Two Years, Wife Says.
Ruhl, 52 years old, of 4217 A Broadway, walked into the home of his wife, Rosa, at 4 a. m. and announced he was going to shave. The wife, who was awakened when he got up, jumped out of bed, but before she reached his side he had drawn a razor across his throat and fallen unconscious on the floor. Before doctors could be summoned he was dead.

Ruhl was a locomotive fireman when he was able to work. The wife told policemen he had been ill for two years and lately had suffered from palsy, and she had obtained employment in order to support the family. There are three children.

$60,000,000 HIGHWAY PROGRAM OUTLINED

State Superintendent Describes Work to Be Done in State With Bond Issue.

Highway officials of Illinois and Wisconsin, at the convention of the Highway Engineers' Association of Missouri at the Planters Hotel today, described methods and results of road bond programs in their states. John M. Malang, State Highway Superintendent of Missouri, outlined the program of the department for Missouri.

Malang presented the plan of the department for the application of the $60,000,000 bond issue. "Permanent cross state roads, as well as local roads, must be constructed with the funds which will be available soon," Malang said. "State roads and not county roads must be the objective. The money must be spent for service and in such manner that those who pay the bills receive the benefits."

Permanent Roads Paramount.
"Permanent roads are paramount. They serve the future as well as the present. A short system of good roads will be of more value than a long system of poor roads. The State Highway Department plans, for the $60,000,000 bond issue, a system of primary and secondary roads, connecting with interstate and national highways. The road bond law provides the roads constructed must extend into every county."

"Our plan is for 4600 miles of roads, 1600 of which will be primary and the remaining 3000 secondary, these complying with the law by extending into every county and also connecting with the 1600 miles of trunk roads. There will be five of these, and a branch trunk line. The department trunk line is for roads from St. Louis to Kansas City, from Hannibal to St. Joseph, from Kansas City to Joplin, and through to Des Moines, Ia., from St. Louis to Springfield, and from Keokuk to St. Louis and connecting with the southern section of the State and the Arkansas State road. The branch is from Chillicothe to Kansas City."

The State Department plan, Malang said, seems to state highway engineers the most desirable and should be approved by the Legislature. It will be necessary to adopt some program soon in order that plans may be begun.

Clifford Older, State Highway Engineer of Illinois, outlined the history of the State's system of roads from the advisory commission in 1905 and the original State aid act of 1915, which made $1,000,000 available each year, and which resulted in the construction of 18,000 miles of makeshift roads and a few miles of hard roads.

This operated so slow, he said, that the bond issue in 1917, of $60,000,000, was passed by a vote of four to one. Since then 4800 miles of durable trunk lines have been planned and 800 miles are under construction or have been contracted for. The bond fund has not been touched, the work so far having been done under Federal aid. The roads nearly complete include the East St. Louis to Chicago highway and the National Trail.

J. T. Donaghey, Maintenance Engineer of the Wisconsin Highway Commission, described the maintenance system of his State, under which each seven miles of the 7500 miles in the connected system is patrolled by a county employee under the department jurisdiction. The patrolmen are equipped with drags and maintain the condition of earth and sand roads. Of $28,000,000 available for roads in the State this year $5,000,000 will be used for maintenance. The State has 76,000 miles of roads altogether.

POLICE SEIZE QUANTITY OF RED WINE IN MAN'S HOME

One hundred quart bottles and 30 pint bottles filled with red wine and two 50-gallon barrels partly filled were found by the police yesterday in the home of Charles Mattea, 43, at 9 South Sixteenth street. The police declare that Mattea, after his arrest, admitted that he had made the wine from elderberries and grapes last October and November for his own use.

When a policeman stopped John Demsko, 28, of 1728 South Ninth street at Third and Trudeau streets last night at 10 o'clock because he was curious about a large package Demsko was carrying, Demsko dropped the package. There was a sound of breaking glass. Demsko said the package had contained a one-gallon glass jug. The policeman surmised from the odor that the contents had been resin whisky. A small quantity of raisin whisky was found in Demsko's home and he was arrested.

70 Y. M. C. A. SCHOLARSHIPS TO GO TO FORMER SERVICE MEN

Probate Judge Sam D. Hodgdon, chairman of the Educational Committee of the St. Louis County Branch Y. M. C. A., announced today that the committee will award 70 or 80 scholarships, valued at about $100 each, to ex-service men. The committee has $4000, apportioned from the surplus in the Y. M. C. A. treasury after the war.

Courses offered include mechanics, auto electricity, battery building, welding, vulcanizing, mechanical and architectural drafting, law, finance, business administration, salesmanship, advertising, bookkeeping and a general business course. They may be taken by correspondence or at Y. M. C. A. classes. Ex-service men who wish to take the course must apply to Judge Hodgdon at the Clayton courthouse at once.

SWEDEN RATIFIES WORLD COURT

First Nation to Notify Secretariat of League.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Jan. 7.—The Swedish Government has notified the Secretariat of the League of Nations of the ratification of the protocol establishing the Court of International Justice.

Sweden thus is the first of the signatory countries to ratify. As soon as a majority of the members of the League take similar action, the statutes of the court will come into force.
Dr. Wellington Koo has been appointed by presidential decree as China's representative in the Council of the League.

MISSOURIAN REPORTS BEING
SWINDLED OUT OF $30,000

Springfield Jewelry Manufacturer, Son of St. Louisan, Tells Cleveland Police of Oil Deal.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 7.—Police are searching for four "prosperous business men," who swindled David Ellman, a manufacturing jeweler, of Springfield, Mo., out of $30,000.

Ellman met three strangers in a Wichita Falls (Tex.) hotel, last September, according to the police, and became interested in a "rich oil proposition." It was suggested by one of his acquaintances that each provide $10,000, pool their money and make a "bidding." An appointment was made to meet in Cleveland.

Ellman met the men, whose number had grown to four, at a prominent hotel here. Ellman had his $30,000 in cash. Three of the others had nicely wrapped bundles of greenbacks and Ellman produced his.
The fourth member of the group was dispatched to the place the order, taking the money with him. He returned with the announcement that they "had gone broke." It was then "discovered" that he had "bought" instead of "sold."

Ellman was advised to go to Ottawa and there await one of the men who promised to recoup his losses.

There he received a telegram to go to a city in Pennsylvania, where he would find a money order for his expenses.
After waiting in vain he came to Cleveland, where he reported his loss to the police.

FEDERAL JUDGE RULES AGAINST ALIEN PROPERTY CUSTODIAN

Holds That Money Owed to an Official or Citizen of Germany By an American Cannot Be Seized.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Money owed to an official or citizen of Germany by an American citizen cannot be claimed by the Alien Property Custodian, Federal Justice Mayer ruled here yesterday in dismissing a suit brought by the Government.

The custodian sought to obtain $362,000 deposited in the American Exchange National Bank when the United States entered the war by John Simon, an exporter, who had endeavored to send food supplies to Germany. It was alleged by the Government that Simon worked through Dr. Heinrich Albert, German fiscal agent, and that this money was due Albert from Simon. Justice Mayer stopped the trial of the case after one witness had been heard for the Government. The Justice declared that he was "amazed that the custodian should attempt such an action."
"I think too much of this Government," said Justice Mayer, "to imagine for one moment that its officers, when they thoroughly understand the case, will pursue this litigation further."

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK
BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calomine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a bit of wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The calomine powder and the wet water have just dissolved them. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them open and ugly—and unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out, while the simple application of calomine powder and water dissolves them right out, leaving the skin soft and clear. If you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.

MARKETING EXCHANGES SAID TO BE SUCCESSFUL

Managers Say Plan Nets Greater Profit for Farmers by Eliminating Middlemen.

Seven managers of marketing exchanges, operated by members of the Farmers' Equity Union, at this morning's session of the annual convention at the Planters Hotel, told of the progress being made by the exchanges and declared that the exchanges were netting the farmer greater profit for his produce, and were saving him much money in the buying of necessities for farm operation. The exchanges operate on a plan which eliminates all middlemen and does marketing direct to the consumer.

P. L. Betts, president and manager of the Chicago Equity Union Exchange, which has been established only two years, said that last year the exchange marketed 8,000,000 pounds of butter and 30 cars of eggs. The farmers, before the establishment of the exchange, had been dealing through commission firms, who sold the products immediately after receiving them, while the exchange got a much better price for the farmers' produce, because they did not sell until prices were higher, he said.

Through the system of co-operative buying and selling the prices of machinery, feed, coal and other necessities for farm operation has been forced down 15 per cent to the farmers of Ohio and Indiana. James O. Cross, manager of the exchange at Lima, O., said. The exchange agency at Lima deals through 120 smaller exchanges.

Arch Bean, of Denver, Col., told of the successful operation by farmers of a coal mine near Aguilar, Col. Members of 130 farmers' marketing exchanges in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas bought the coal mine a year ago, and it is expected that 1500 cars of coal will be mined this year for the use of the farmers. The mine employs 75 men, and at present can produce 250 tons a day, and in another year will be producing 600 tons a day, he said.

The mine benefits the farmer in two ways. The farmer gets all the profits made by the mine, and he also gets coal when he wants it, Bean declared. The farmers also have purchased $30,000 worth of stock in another mine in Routt County, Col., he added.

B. M. Norum of Aberdeen, S. D., and O. Hanson of Omaha, Neb., told of the success of the creamery plants operated by farmers in Aberdeen and Orleans, which are manufacturing almost 5,000,000 pounds of butter a year. Other speakers were John L. Boles of Liberal, Kan., and H. Z. Baker of Bird City, Kan.

Yesterday afternoon J. D. Miller of Susquehanna, Pa., vice president and general counsel of the Dairy-men's League of New York, spoke on "Co-operative Farm Marketing." The convention closes this afternoon with the election of officers and reports from various committees appointed to consider better methods for marketing.

INCREASE IN CHARITY CASES

1230 Families Aided by Provident Association in December.

An increase of 25 per cent in the number of families cared for by the St. Louis Provident Association in December, 1931, over the number in December, 1930, was reported yesterday by C. M. Hubbard, general manager. During December, 1230 families, or about 4500 persons, were cared for. According to Hubbard the unemployment situation was causing the association more concern than any other factor at this time.

M. J. Moore and Louis Stockstrom yesterday were elected to the Board of Directors of the association to fill vacancies.

28th North Dakota Bank Closed.
By the Associated Press.
BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 7.—The First State Bank of Crystal Springs, with a capital stock of $10,000, closed its doors yesterday. O. E. Lothus, State Bank Examiner, said shortages and irregularities were reported to have been the cause of the bank's closing. The total number of banks in the State recently closed now is 28.

MOST MEN DO THEIR SHOPPING ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

It is the most convenient time of all the week for a man to accompany his wife, mother or bride-to-be to select their furniture needs. Plan now to visit the Prufrock-Lifton Furniture Company's store at Fourth and St. Charles streets on tomorrow afternoon. The store remains open until 8 p. m.

Their midwinter sale of furniture is now in progress with guaranteed savings of $10 to $40 on every $100 you spend. The price on every article in the store, from the tiniest bit of color-ful pottery to the most pretentious living-room, dining-room or bedroom suite, has been revised to meet the demand for lower prices. I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Another Rich Man.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I read with great pleasure and with much profit the little letter of the blacksmith of Pierce, Dak., and I wish to add my little mite to the universal appreciation which it has called forth.

I too, enjoy many, but not all the blessings of the writer of that letter. Yet I think I am somewhat richer than he. May I enumerate some of my blessings? I know that "my Redeemer liveth," and I hope for the "life of the world to come." I know, love and serve God here, in the hope of everlasting life. In the morning, when I rise, I bend my knees in thanksgiving to Him for the blessing of restful, refreshing sleep, and I offer all my works, prayers and all my crosses of the coming day to His honor and glory. I find much time in the midst of a busy professional career to serve His poor and distressed children, not in mere deeds of philanthropy, but in that charity so simply described in the vision of Sir Launcelot, in which the spirit speaks, "Not what we give, but what we share. For the gift without the giver is bare. Who gives himself with his aims feeds three, himself, his hungry neighbor and me." I realize and believe that all things come from God, and to Him all things must return.

He has given me but a small talent, yet I am striving to return it multiplied. That I may receive His commendation, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," thus, through my prayers, my labors and my service, I am never without that "peace which passeth human understanding," and which fills every moment of every day with the radiance of the Light Divine.

These are but a few of my riches which make me feel that I am just a bit wealthier than our good friend, the blacksmith. INXTO.

What We've Heeded For.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
We will have summer weather right now. We will see the trees budding. We will see cherry blossoms. And then—poor weather.
G. F. OCKRASSU.

As "Tory" Understands It.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Your Sunday morning, "The Bourbon Never Learns," is sweet, but unconvincing. Russia is not working out her own destiny. She is fighting it out.

Germany as a fighting force menaced the world, but the world, as a superior fighting force, put the quietus on the "veterland."

The remedy for a sore tooth is extraction or surgery. With our milk-filled quill, we indite great phrases, oh, doctrinaire, oh, doctrinaire! But the granaries of Russia are no more. The bare feet and the bare backs of the millions of Central Europe bear witness to the righteousness of letting Bolshevism "work out its own destiny." An allied military commission in Moscow and Petrograd would stabilize Russian money and next year hides and wheat would team out of Russia into Central Europe and so steady the world.

As I understand it, a New York Bowery journalist and an international "con man" are carrying out your theory of what is good for Russia. TORY.

Thanks the Press.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The splendid co-operation during Marine week in your city was due largely to the public interest aroused through the columns of the press of St. Louis. The shipping Board representative, in a report made to me today, impressed this fact upon all of us in Washington.

As the Director of Operations of the United States Shipping Board, I wish to thank you in behalf of the board, for the material aid extended through your columns.

PAUL FOLEY,
Director of Operations.

The Old Barracks Story.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Reading the picture and reading the story of the old Slave Barracks in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, recalls to me that I was in the old stone house at the time of the St. Louis cyclone.

The paper spoke of the rafters being replaced with small ones, and said perhaps five destroyed there. No, it was the St. Louis cyclone that destroyed them, and the roof was of high shingles such as our great-grandfathers made.

All around the place were beautiful shade trees. The little house, built on the back of a root house to store vegetables in. It has no floor, and is very dark. People came running in the storm to the old stone house from all directions. They said they knew if anything would stand, the old stone house would, because it had stood for so many, many years. It stood. Although windows were out, roof off, floor down, the walls stood and sheltered us all until morning came. MRS. HORMANN.

THE GARFIELD COAL PLAN.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, and United States Fuel Administrator during the war, submitted a plan at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Thursday, for the Government's regulation of the coal industry. He declared it to be the duty of the Federal Government to determine the policy and enact and enforce laws necessary for regulating the production and distribution of coal and ventured that, as regards that point, public opinion is substantially unanimous.

That may be an assumption. And from it the coal operators, presumably, will vehemently dissent. But public opinion goes far to sustain the assumption. The public has twice been confronted by a coal famine of almost national proportions. Extensive sectional scarcity of fuel has frequently been known. Exorbitant prices have been charged by coal operators. The policy of mine operation has been fashioned with a view to creating artificial shortages for the purpose of seemingly justifying excessive prices. Such is the public's bill of complaint against the coal operators. It is a serious bill. If it does not require the public, as a matter of self-preservation, to protect itself against a continuance of such abuses, by the authority of law, it is difficult to imagine what imposition or offense would make such action imperative. That the miners have been defiant of the public's equity and welfare is a matter of record, too.

Assuming, then, that the necessity for Government regulation has been established, Dr. Garfield has prepared a plan by which the Government may intelligently regulate this industry. He would utilize four bureaus now in existence for getting the facts: the Bureau of Labor Statistics to ascertain the facts of living costs at the mines; the Interstate Commerce Commission the facts as to distribution costs; the Federal Trade Commission the facts as to production and selling costs; the Geological Survey the facts as to coal deposits and available supplies.

Those facts would be turned over to two Federal commissions, to be created by Congress—an anthracite and a bituminous commission, whose powers would be advisory. On each of those commissions the operators would have three representatives, the miners three representatives and the public would be represented by the Secretary of the Interior, who would act as chairman of both commissions. With the facts digested, the Secretary of the Interior would advise the President, who would transmit his recommendations to Congress, based upon that advice.

How the Garfield plan would work can only be determined by actual test. That it is the best plan devisable cannot be asserted. But it has obvious points of merit. For instance, any intelligent policy in the coal industry, or any other industry, must be based on facts. Moreover, in theory at least, it gives all parties in interest representation and the probability of a square deal. Finally, it vests in no commission, or individual, final power of regulation, but places that power in Congress, where, manifestly, it belongs.

Without indorsing it in any degree, the Garfield plan for the regulation of the basic fuel industry must be appraised as a constructive proposal.

Perhaps the cigarette manufacturers could reduce prices if they'd quit using expensive substitutes for tobacco.

THE BOYCOTT AND CAPITAL.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Duplex Printing Press Co. case, declaring the secondary boycott illegal, although denounced by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor as wholly reactionary, is, nevertheless, in harmony with the views heretofore held by the state and Federal courts.

A secondary boycott has been defined as a combination of several persons to cause a loss to a third person by causing others against their will to withdraw from him their beneficial business intercourse through threats that, unless a compliance with their demands be made, the persons forming the combination will cause loss or injury to him. Judge Ames Thayer of the United States Court of Appeals said some years ago, in the Oxley State Co. case:

While the courts have invariably upheld the right of individuals to form labor organizations for the protection of the interests of the laboring classes and have denied the power to enjoin the members of such associations from withdrawing either singly or in body, even where such withdrawal has generally condemned those combinations usually termed boycotts, which are formed for the purpose of interfering, otherwise than by lawful competition, with the business affairs of others, the dictum of the right to conduct the business in which they happen to be engaged, according to the dictates of their own judgment.

The courts have generally held that the vital elements in a boycott are intimidation and coercion, and that it must appear that the means used are of a threatening nature and are intended to overcome the will of others and compel them to do or refrain from doing that which they would or would not otherwise have done.

With this rule now clearly enunciated by our highest court, it is pertinent to ask what steps, if any, have been taken to deal with that negative aspect of the boycott being practiced by certain of the great steel companies in refusing to sell structural steel to any contractor employing union labor? It is difficult to understand why this is not equally an unlawful combination, by means of threats and intimidation, to interfere with the right to conduct one's business.

according to the dictates of one's own judgment. If the rule against boycotts is the law, it is not only the law for the labor unions; it is the law for combinations of capital as well.

NO VESTIGE OF HOME RULE.

Having succeeded to the position in which the appointment of St. Louis Police Commissioners is vested, Gov. Hyde repudiates the home-rule principle. He not only refuses to divest himself of these appointments, but even to modify the system under which the Police Commissioners levy taxes on St. Louis about as the Germans used to levy forced contributions on captured Belgian municipalities.

It is no answer to the argument for direct municipal control of the police to say that a local political machine exists. A State machine has always existed as well. The department, with appointment transferred to the city in which a machine of fluctuating fortune is found, would be no more susceptible to political influences than it has always been with appointment vested in the authorities of the State, in which a single machine has maintained itself with unimpairing power for a generation. If it comes to a question of machines, it could easily be shown that the State machine was even more arrogant and unprogressive and stupid than any local machine.

But there would be this advantage in a change: Control would be in the hands of those vitally interested in police efficiency. For their success in protecting the community the police would have responsibility to the community, not to some distant authority of languid concern for local welfare. How the community might penalize presumptuous abuses may be read in the returns of as recent an election as that of Nov. 2.

The lack of this control and responsibility has been keenly felt at times, especially during late months marked by startling increases in crime. Centered accountability would have indisputable value, unless all contentions as to its value in public affairs are at fault.

The great unseemliness of these local commissions, who spent local money, being used to pay the political debts and meet the other political necessities of indifferent up-State Governors would be avoided. Opposition on the ground of possible political contamination is pure bunk and always has been bunk.

The bars have disappeared from Jefferson City, and the poker rooms are dark and still, but there's one old landmark left—the politicians.

FRENCH TEACHERS' PAY RAISED.

Perhaps the teachers of no country have been left in a condition of greater hardship than those of France. Basing their claim on exhibits showing that the cost of maintenance has at least been doubled, they have been pressing a request for higher pay. Recently M. Honnorat, Minister of Public Instruction in a sympathetic statement, conceded the justice of their demand and announced that it had been granted. Then he made known the amount of the increase. It was $3.75 a year in our money.

Efforts to increase the salaries of rural teachers in this country should not end in a similar anti-climax.

Man was originally a sea creature, a scientist tells us. And, considering the vamping mermaid's beguiling charms, the wonder is that man ever got to shore.

PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION AND ITS WORK.

Some idea of the extent of the work of the Provident Association is conveyed in the statement that no less than 1230 families came under its care during the month of December. The demands made, not only upon the association's funds, but upon its facilities for detailed work, its capacity for service in its particular field, in ministering to the individuals included in such a number of families can be appreciated by all St. Louisans of maturity and experience. Of these 1230 families, 348 were forced to appeal to the organization because of lack of employment. The needs in this direction will, of course, be greatly multiplied if conditions remain unaltered and unemployment increases as the winter lengthens.

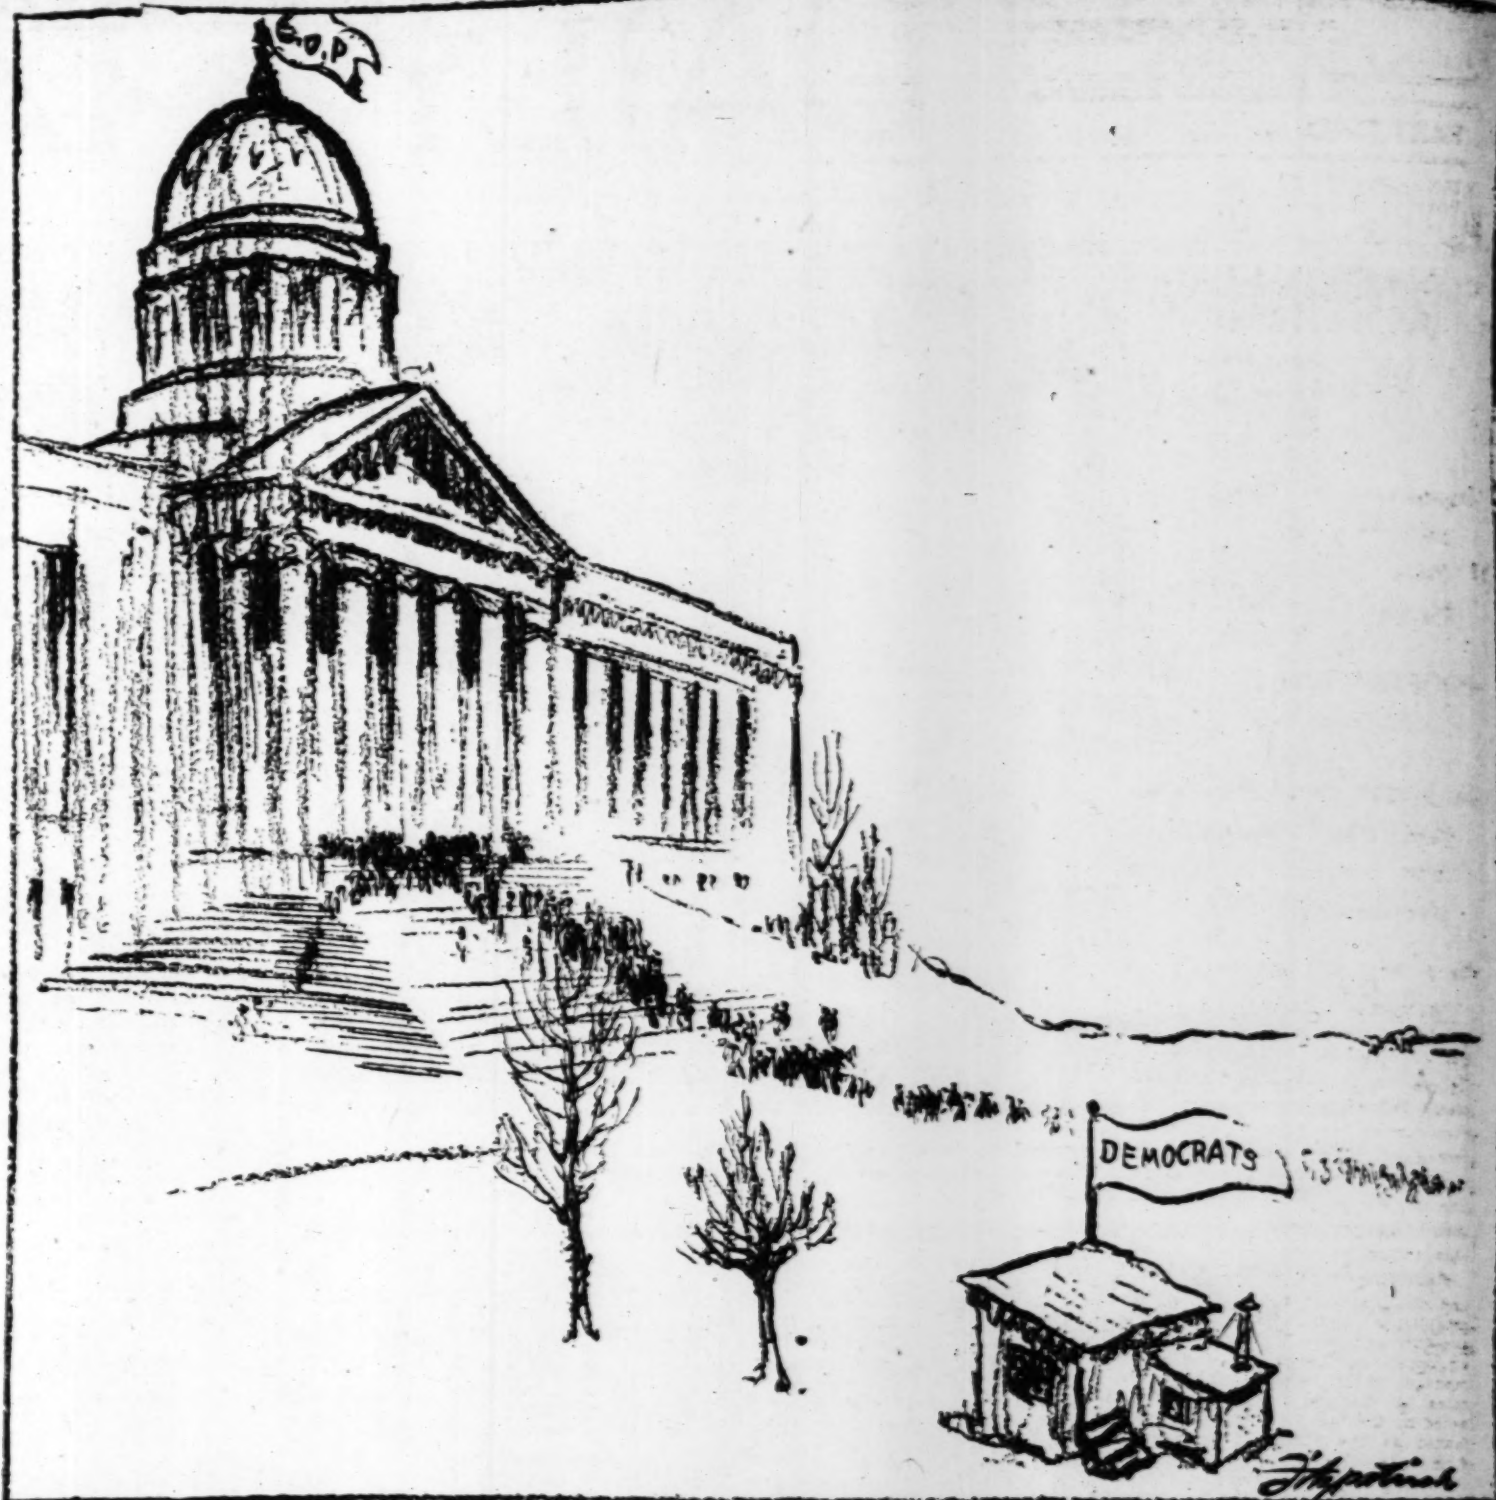

To provide food, clothing and shelter for those who, with resources exhausted, must suffer, perhaps perish, without such provision is a very important part of the humane work of the association. But it is not the only important part. Its constructive activities are, perhaps, its most useful activities. Its workers seek jobs for the jobless, make those permanently self-supporting who are temporarily dependent. It reunites separated couples. It takes steps to punish those who desert their families. It secures medical attention for the sick. It endeavors to exert an influence that will instruct in morals, teach thrift, better living conditions, instill the ideals of self-respecting, responsible citizenship.

The Urban League, under Provident Association auspices, does a helpful work among negroes. Its Woman's Lodge shelters needy mothers and children. Its Summer Health Camp affords beneficial rest and recreation for the women and children of families whose means are limited. These activities assure benevolence greater rewards than mere almsgiving. Industrial conditions, the winter season, the higher cost of relief as compared with some former years combine to make a strong appeal for increased generosity on the part of the public.

RAGE.

Do you toddle—
Do you shimmy—
To the music jassy brassy,
To the music new and classy,
As the romance of today?
Cheap and shallow, light and gay!

Life is just a round of pleasure,
Disco dancers step its measure
In their ceaseless strife for play—
Never caring who shall pay
When the night dawns into day.

If it is a phase of beauty,
Then I will not say it nay;
But will give it right of way.
Let it have its little day—
Toddle, shimmy while you may!

ANTHOLOGY OF ANOTHER NEWSPAPER.

Answers to Queries.

To O. P.: So far as we are able to learn, the citizens of St. Louis are not trying to "dam" the Mississippi River at that place. Your informant probably referred to the St. Louis police force or the United Railways Co.

IRENE—From the data you furnish we are unable to say whether your husband, who, you say, lifted part of your back hair loose from your scalp, could be classified as "a gentleman", or otherwise. We deem it an unwise policy to deliver an adverse opinion of any gent, whose entire physical make-up is not fully known to us. The fact that you were able to subdue, and even chastise him, in the last little difference of opinion which arose between you leads us to believe that you have nothing to fear from his future activities. Most certainly the things that you mention would furnish sufficient grounds for a divorce, but—why seek to separate from a husband you are sure you can whip?

OLD READER—Fluency of speech is a thing to be desired by one entering certain lines of trade—the green-goods business, for instance.
There is no school on earth that can make you what nature obviously intended you should not be. Try mule-driving; if you do not develop fluency of speech at this trade, your case is hopeless.

CRITICUS—Freeding sweet cider will certainly make it "hard," we doubt whether this process will add to its intoxicating power. Ask at the police station.

ANXIOUS WIFE—The fact that your husband traded a hog worth $2 for a second-hand glove will, in our opinion, not be taken as sufficient grounds for declaring him insane. We are similarly situated—we swanned a saw-mill worth every cent of $93 for the physical assets of this paper and have so far fought shy of the bug house.

STAGE STRUCK—We are sorry to say we are unable to give you any information that would be of assistance to you in your attempts to learn "interpretative" dancing. We cannot entertain your suggestion that we furnish you with lessons in this art ourselves. We are compelled habitually to wear a pair of felt boots, even in our office, at this time of the year. It is plain that one so attired would be unable to tread even the more conservative measures of this dance. You might experiment some yourself. Set up a looking-glass where you can have a good view of it from all angles; get next of common hornets; set down on the nest, and if the hornets do their share you will doubtless perform some antics that can be classed as original, if not according to the best masters.

KNIGHT OF THE HORN—An accordion is not exactly the best suited musical instrument for serenading a girl; but it has one thing to recommend it—it has volume. If her father has no dogs or guns you might try it.

Don't persecute tightwads; shame them with

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publica-tionists and periodicals on the questions of the day.

NEWS PRINT EXTORTION.

THE newspaper bill of the American press for the calendar year 1921 will be considerably over $200,000,000, providing the contract prices announced by the five big companies, as effective for the first quarter, shall firm for the entire year.
This $200,000,000 should be compared with a paper bill in 1920 of approximately $234,000,000.

Roughly the increased cost in 1921 for newsprint alone, that the American newspaper publishers now face, is $75,000,000. This vast sum must be wrung from the very life of the newspaper business, and in turn advertisers and finally the public in general. These figures are naturally conservative because they are based upon a total production of 2,317,000 tons in 1920 and an average selling price of the five largest manufacturers, and no account is taken of the spot market prices under which a percentage of the tonnage of 1920 was sold. Such prices cannot be viewed in the light of anything but extortion. There is no sound economical reason for such increases and it remains to be seen whether publishers will meekly submit to such treatment. It may be said that that newspaper can be manufactured with a handsome profit at 5 cents a pound or $100 a ton. Publishers would gladly pay such a price, but they simply cannot continue indefinitely to pay $130 per ton. The day of co-operation has passed. The newspaper publishing business must organize to fight to free itself from the selfish interests that are attempting to strangle it again.

RACIAL AND RELIGIOUS PREJUDICE.

From the Dublin Herald.
MANY of us would seem, simply must have something to worry himself about, and he is not at all particular what it is, whether it be real or imaginary, serious or absurd. Indeed, sometimes it would seem that he rather prefers the unreal and the absurd, and overlooks many serious things that he might think about to some good because there is something he could do about them. For instance, here is one set of people worrying about the fantastic fear that the Jews are subconsciously plotting to get control of the world. And here is another set of people worrying about the equally fantastic fear that the Catholics are plotting to get the world under their thumbs. They might far better forget it, and employ their minds on something real and useful.
If isn't being tried, of course. It couldn't be done if it were tried. And even if it were done, it couldn't last over night. There are many real things in this world that these worriers might apply their energies to, thereby helping to get the world forward. Inciting racial or religious antagonisms always puts the world back.
Those who do it are in sorry if not despicable business. If it were not for the fact that they breed destructive hates, such antagonisms, born of prejudice, would be funny. As it is, they are sad as well as foolish.

THE SPREAD OF BOLSHEVISM.

From the New Republic.
PROBABLY the greatest historic fact of 1921 has been the failure of the disintegrating tendencies of what we call Bolshevism to extend on any important scale beyond the borders of Russia. When one remembers the attitude of organized labor at the end of 1919, even in England and America, or recalls the predictions of a year ago as to the necessary political consequences of another hard winter in Central Europe, or reflects on the course of European events in the similar period after the Terrorists had got control of the French Revolution, the fact that Europe as a whole is in far less apparent danger of the spread of such influences than it seemed to be last December is of paramount importance.
Nevertheless, the present year ends with the Bol-shevist dictators victorious over all their internal enemies.

ADVOCATES OF COMPENSATION BILL CONFIDENT

Supporters of Measure Expect Favorable Action by State Legislature Despite Kansas City Opposition.

PROPOSITION HAS SUPPORT OF LABOR

St. Louis Trades Organization Favors State Monopolistic Insurance—Competitive Insurance Likely.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 7.—Advocates of the workmen's compensation bill favored by the Missouri Federation of Labor and the Associated Industries of Missouri as a compromise measure, though disturbed by the apparent defection of members of the employers' association of Kansas City, are confident their measure will receive favorable action by the Legislature.

Representatives of the Federation and the Associated Industries have established headquarters in Jefferson City and have prepared to wage an active campaign for the enactment of their measure, which contains 19 changes from the bill enacted by the last Legislature, but defeated at the polls, under referendum vote, Nov. 2.

Friends of the compromise bill believe the opposition is of two kinds, one group being classed as those opposed to any kind of workmen's compensation and the other regarded as being opposed to the bill as well as being opposed to the real meaning of the compromise bill as it is expected to work if enacted.

Compromise Bill Opposed. The Kansas City employers are said to have mailed a letter to many parts of the State opposing the compromise bill and some of them even have threatened to have re-introduced the old bill, defeated in November.

Champions of the compromise bill are reluctant to discuss the revolt of the Kansas City employers whose organization is a part of the associated industries, on the ground that they hope to regain the support of part of the employers now off the reservation, and do not desire to offend them so long as a prospect remains of enlisting their aid.

The new measure provides for competitive insurance and a $20 maximum weekly benefit.

Eight men, representing branches of organized labor, comprise the force which has opened headquarters in the Dalmeyer building here, to wage the fight for the compensation act and other measures sought by union men. They are R. T. Wood of Springfield, president of the State Federation; T. A. Day of Ardmore and W. W. Scott of Ardmore, all of the State Federation; T. H. Norman of Jefferson City, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; H. S. Kratzinger of Jefferson City, Order of Railway Conductors; F. L. Bradley of St. Joseph, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; C. C. Brittingham of Eldon, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; James A. James of Joplin, United Mine Workers; John Hall of St. Louis, legislative representative of the Associated Industries, also is here.

Favored by St. Louis Labor. Wood said the compromise bill had met with the complete approval of the Metal Trades Council of St. Louis and that the Central Trades and Labor Union and the Building Trades Council of St. Louis also favored the bill except that they desire monopolistic State insurance. He is hopeful that they eventually will accept the competitive insurance provision also, as he feels that it will be impossible to get favorable action on the monopolistic plan.

The carpenters of Kansas City also have accepted the bill, Wood said. Though the Building Trades Council of Kansas City, of which the carpenters are a part, is believed to be against it. Most of the shop and industrial unions of Kansas City will support the compromise bill, Wood said.

Nine Paintings for State Capitol and Other Art to Be Delivered Today

Are First of Decorations to Make Statehouse at Jefferson City One of Finest Public Buildings in the Country.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 7.—Nine paintings, one group of sculpture, three figured tapestries and two compositions in mosaic glass, constituting the first completed commissions in the decoration of the new Missouri State Capitol, will be formally delivered to the State before a joint session of both houses of the Legislature this afternoon, when Dr. John Pickard, chairman of the Capitol Decoration Commission, will present the paintings to Gov. Gardner and give accounts for the first appropriation of $100,000 from the Capitol tax fund.

Decorations of the capitol, designed to cover a period of years and give Missouri one of the finest decorated public buildings in the United States, has no more than begun. Following the first appropriation by the last Legislature, a bill asking $300,000 for the next year will be introduced in the new Legislature for continuance of the work. These appropriations do not come from the general revenue, but from the Capitol tax levied for furnishing and equipping the capitol.

Decorating the Capitol from this fund follows a precedent established in Wisconsin, where it was held in law that such decorations are an integral part of a public building.

As few Missourians who have not visited Jefferson City since the new Capitol was built are aware of its beauty, so few people in the State are prepared for the extent to which even a few decorations have reflected, as art alone can, the singular richness and romance of Missouri history.

Here the old world in some of its most colorful and adventurous expressions blends with the fresh new vigor of the new, while out of it all rings the clamor and conflict through which Missouri moved for a hundred years to her present tranquil state.

It is the constant representation of those who worked for the decoration of the Capitol that if the State availed itself of its opportunity it could have a State House decorated with the same grandeur as the House of Representatives in the United States. Some confirmation of this is already to be seen in the few commissions completed, since in the great mosaic composition, "The Battle of the House Chamber Missouri appears as the mother of 12 Western states pioneered through this gateway to the West. The design carries the shields of Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, California, Colorado, Oregon, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and New Mexico. In the Senate Chamber Lewis and Clarke, with their Indians and trappers, appear before Thomas Jefferson, who reports what they found upon the long expedition up the Missouri River. There, too, is a full-length portrait of Senator Benton making in St. Louis that celebrated plea for a railroad to the Pacific in the great hall of the State House.

There is the scene of the battle of the Santa Fe trail, over which the historic Greys took the first merchandise caravan out of Missouri in the early 1830s.

Many Big Paintings to Come. That is what is there now, but it is by no means all that will be there when the commissions under the first appropriations are completed. The chief glory of the whole design under the first appropriation will be the decorations by Frank Brangwyn of England upon the four great panels which will not be done for another two years. There is additionally a tremendous allegory of Missouri in war being done by Hoffmeyer, the world's premier painter of battle scenes, which is now being painted in a studio placed at the disposal of the artist by the French Government. There will be the sight of the naval artist, typifying Missouri service at sea, and said to be the first recognition of that branch of the service in any decorated public building in the United States.

The Capitol Decoration Commission was appointed by Gov. Gardner. It consists of five members. The other four members in addition to

Dr. Pickard, who is an instructor in the history of art at the Missouri State University, are W. K. Bibby, chairman of the board of control at the St. Louis City Art Museum; J. F. Downing, a Kansas City banker; Mrs. W. R. Painter of Jefferson City, and Arthur A. Kocian, a St. Louis art dealer. It is the policy of the commission to choose the artist for the particular task. Brangwyn, it is hoped, will entirely decorate the dome. He is conspicuously suitable for that work, and the commission has had the courage to go as far as England to find its man.

Four Missouri artists have been given commissions. They are Richard E. Miller of St. Louis, who painted the attack upon St. Louis and the surrender of the Miamis; Frederick Green Carpenter of St. Louis, who painted the battle of Sacramento and the entrance of Missouri troops to Havana; and Carlo Gino Venanzi of Kansas City, who decorated the woodwork in the Soldiers' and Sailors' Museum. The sculpture group by Carl Bitter was done for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition and presented to the commission by the St. Louis City Art Museum. The mosaic glass designs are by Herman T. Scheldermeyer of Bronzville, N. Y. N. C. Wyeth of New York, a pupil of Howard Pyle, painted the battle of Wilson's Creek and Westport. Adolphe Blondheim of Providence, R. I., did the battle at Vauquish Hill.

Carry Out Commission's Plan.

The lunettes and the Miller panels are not primarily decorations, but historical pictures. They effectively carry out the commission's plan to make the decorations educational and historical as well as purely ornamental. The Lewis and Clarke panel by Miller is a truly fine piece of painting by one of America's foremost artists—a picture which, while wholly in the style of the American historical painter, is a masterpiece of the present condition, some authorities attributing crime in part to illegal intoxicants and others contending that the same condition as to crime exists in countries where prohibition is not in effect.

Idleness of Boys Assailed. Unwillingness on the part of many boys and young men to do honest work, illegal traffic in narcotics and the use of the automobile in the commission of crime are set forth by the committee as some of the chief causes of the present situation.

After reviewing the manner in which the investigation was conducted, the report states: "Your committee desires to say that the causes of the present crime wave seem to be as numerous and various as the crimes committed. The committee is of opinion of the witnesses appearing before your committee is to the effect that it is the outgrowth of the war, causing many persons with criminal tendencies to seek the easy method of getting money in preference to daily labor."

"According to all authorities here and elsewhere, there seems to have been developed an army of boys, youths and young men from the ages of 15 to 20, who are unwilling to do any honest work, and who as a consequence of this mental attitude, sponge on women, swindle, pick pockets, act as highwaymen, bank robbers and indulge in other crimes of violence."

Liquor and Drugs as Factors. "This is charged by some as being the effect of illegal intoxicants, sold and consumed in violation of the eighteenth amendment. While it is true that the crime wave is epidemic and exists in other countries where the eighteenth amendment does not prevail. Another reason frequently given by the police authorities as the reason for the present crime wave is the use of drugs, which, it is charged, is behind a large percentage of these crimes committed. The fact is pointed out that the cost per day to keep a drug fiend supplied is between $4 and $8, and the longing for the drug drives the slave out with a gun to steal and even kill, if necessary, in order to satisfy his craving for the drug."

"Still another new factor which seems to have a direct connection with the present wave of crime is the automobile, which is proving to be a perfect means of approach and getaway for criminals. By using an automobile a criminal is not seen by a police officer on the streets. As a consequence, police protection suddenly confronts a new condition which they seem unable to overcome. Crime has developed a new mechanical ally valuable to highwaymen, criminals and police characters. These are conditions which apply not only to St. Louis, but almost every other city in the country."

Recommendations of Committee. In addition to the recommendations as to new ordinances the committee suggests that the State Legislature be asked to enact a law making highway robbery an unbailable offense. A copy of the report will be given to Harry Roskopf, special counsel for the city at the session of the General Assembly.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF ALDERMEN WHO HELD CRIME INQUIRY COMMITTEE FOR REPEAL OF WAGE SCALE ORDINANCE

Clothing of Policemen With Authority to Serve Summons to Save Time Among Suggestions.

BOYS' TENDENCY NOT TO WORK ASSAILED

Opinion as to Whether Liquor Is Main Cause of Lawlessness Found by Committee to Be Divided.

The passage of an ordinance authorizing policemen to serve Police Court summonses on citizens charged with violating quasi-civil sections of the municipal code, so that the policemen will not have to take the offenders to a police station and consequently will have more time to devote to the suppression of serious crime, is to be recommended, among other things, to the Board of Aldermen this afternoon by the legislative committee on public safety which has been investigating the crime situation here.

Several years ago the Police Department adopted this system in regard to violations of traffic regulations, sanitary and building ordinances, but on appeal in cases where defendants were fined by default the plan failed because there was no ordinance giving the police the authority to serve summonses.

The committee, in recommending other city and state laws to curb crime, states in its report that it has found a diversity of opinion regarding the effect of prohibition on the present condition, some authorities attributing crime in part to illegal intoxicants and others contending that the same condition as to crime exists in countries where prohibition is not in effect.

The ordinance provides that the "prevailing" wage scale shall be paid on municipal improvement and building work, and that preference in the employment of laborers shall be given to citizens of St. Louis, next to American citizens, and lastly, to aliens.

Such work is done under special tax bills and the banks have declared that the ordinance is invalid and on that basis have refused to lend money to contractors wishing to undertake the city work. Under this condition the contractors have refused to bid. The repeal has been favored by the Municipal Contractors' Association, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic and commercial organizations.

Union labor interests have upheld the ordinance as it stands, charging subterfuge in the refusal of the contractors to bid, and declaring that some way can be found to get around the position of the banks. Representatives of labor were present at yesterday's committee meeting and again voiced their approval of the ordinance, saying they were willing to see it repealed, if necessary, to accomplish municipal improvements.

Suggests Substitute. Alderman Wyrick of the Thirteenth Ward, chairman of the Legislative Committee, said he considered certain features of the law praiseworthy, especially that giving preference in employment to citizens of St. Louis. He suggested the possibility of a substitute law embodying some features of the present law, but without phases objectionable to the contractors.

Maurence J. Cassidy, secretary of the Board of Trade and Council, and one of the active opponents of the repeal, told the committee he had written 38 banks of the city concerning their position in the matter, but had received replies from only five. He did not say which banks replied.

Charles J. Lammett, president of the Building Trades Council, and a member of the Board of Election Commissioners, another repeal opponent, said the replies indicated the banks refused to lend money on special tax bills largely because of stringency in the money market.

"Within the next few weeks there will be an expose that will open the eyes of those who appear in favor of the repeal," Lammett said. He charged that municipal contractors of St. Louis are in a combination.

"We feel, and we have always felt," he said, "that the law is legal, and we regret that there has been so much opposition to it. On the other hand, we realize the position the city is in when the contractors refuse to bid on public work as long as this ordinance is in effect. So I suppose there is nothing to be done except repeal it. We realize that there have to be improvements and we are willing to make this sacrifice without any further fight. I am satisfied, though, that if a thorough investigation is made by your body you will find yourself up against the worst combination of contractors the city has ever known."

Tried to Arrange Meetings. Cassidy thanked the committee for granting labor time to oppose the repeal. "We have tried to arrange meetings with the contractors and we have found that they refuse to meet with us. The Mayor has attempted to arrange meetings, but he said he was unable to induce the contractors to meet us. So it is up to you gentlemen to do what you think is right."

C. E. Henleben, chairman of the Central Trades and Labor Union, said his organization still opposes repeal and that opposition was merely another attempt on the part of employers to curb the activities of organized labor. Some of the city's own construction work and others urged that Federal aid, or assistance from the State's $60,000,000 road bond issue, be sought for street improvements, but this is declared to be legally impossible.

Measure to Be Reported Favorably at Meeting of the Board of Aldermen This Afternoon.

ACTION WILL END LONG CONTROVERSY

Contractors Have Refused to Bid on City Work Since the Passage of the Law Several Months Ago.

The Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen voted yesterday to report at the board meeting this afternoon in favor of the repeal of "the prevailing wage scale" ordinance, which has been a subject of considerable discussion since its passage a number of months ago, and which has caused contractors to cease bidding on municipal improvement work. Mayor Kiel has declared himself in favor of the repeal, and would, therefore, sign a repealing ordinance. The Board of Aldermen is expected to follow the recommendation of its committee and pass the repeal.

The ordinance provides that the "prevailing" wage scale shall be paid on municipal improvement and building work, and that preference in the employment of laborers shall be given to citizens of St. Louis, next to American citizens, and lastly, to aliens.

Such work is done under special tax bills and the banks have declared that the ordinance is invalid and on that basis have refused to lend money to contractors wishing to undertake the city work. Charles J. Lammett, president of the Building Trades Council, and a member of the Board of Election Commissioners, another repeal opponent, said the replies indicated the banks refused to lend money on special tax bills largely because of stringency in the money market.

"Within the next few weeks there will be an expose that will open the eyes of those who appear in favor of the repeal," Lammett said. He charged that municipal contractors of St. Louis are in a combination.

"We feel, and we have always felt," he said, "that the law is legal, and we regret that there has been so much opposition to it. On the other hand, we realize the position the city is in when the contractors refuse to bid on public work as long as this ordinance is in effect. So I suppose there is nothing to be done except repeal it. We realize that there have to be improvements and we are willing to make this sacrifice without any further fight. I am satisfied, though, that if a thorough investigation is made by your body you will find yourself up against the worst combination of contractors the city has ever known."

Tried to Arrange Meetings. Cassidy thanked the committee for granting labor time to oppose the repeal. "We have tried to arrange meetings with the contractors and we have found that they refuse to meet with us. The Mayor has attempted to arrange meetings, but he said he was unable to induce the contractors to meet us. So it is up to you gentlemen to do what you think is right."

C. E. Henleben, chairman of the Central Trades and Labor Union, said his organization still opposes repeal and that opposition was merely another attempt on the part of employers to curb the activities of organized labor. Some of the city's own construction work and others urged that Federal aid, or assistance from the State's $60,000,000 road bond issue, be sought for street improvements, but this is declared to be legally impossible.

GARDNER'S LAST MESSAGE URGES SPENDING OF ROAD FUND FOR GENERAL BENEFIT

Retiring Governor Recommends Appropriation of $200,000 to Advertise State—Would Suspend Penalties Against Tax Delinquents.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 7.—Gov. Gardner, in his farewell message to the Legislature today, reviewed the activities of the State during his administration, and made a number of recommendations, appealing for Statewide support of Governor-elect Hyde, and asking that partisanship be forgotten in a work for the upbuilding of the State.

His principal recommendations were: That in planning the expenditure of the $60,000,000 road bond issue fund, the Legislature consider the matter from the standpoint of the State at large and not merely from the local interests of the different parts of the State.

That $200,000 be appropriated by the Legislature for use by the Governor in advertising the State.

That all penalties against delinquent taxpayers be lifted until April 1, 1921.

That the State income tax rate of 1 1/2 per cent be reduced.

For Paying Tax Board. That the corporation franchise tax be reduced 50 per cent.

That the tax on soft drinks be reduced.

That salaries of the members of the State Tax Commission, for whom the last Legislature refused to make an appropriation, be paid.

That the State purchase the entire Ha Ha Tonka tract for a State park and that provision be made for the condemnation of land for State park purposes.

The Governor's message was about 12,000 words in length.

His direct reference to his successor was one paragraph. "The people have chosen a distinguished citizen as our Governor—Hon. Arthur M. Hyde of Trenton. I am certain he will merit your confidence and deserve your support, and I am confident that you will not withhold it."

Review of State Finances. In a review of state finances the Governor said when he took office four years ago there were floating debts owed by the state, amounting to about $2,500,000. He said that in the four years that amount had been paid, and that on Jan. 1 there was $1,242,478.08 in the State Treasury, of which $4,901,354.73 was the general revenue fund. He said the capital cost of conducting the state government in Missouri was $230, the lowest of any state.

The revenue of the state for the next two years he estimated at $29,000,000, which he said was in excess of the state's needs, and in this connection he recommended reduction of the income, corporation and soft drink taxes.

Situation at Prison. He presented a financial statement for the penitentiary, which he said showed that in State management of the penitentiary industries there had been a net profit of $350,000 in addition to the setting aside of a sinking fund for depreciation of $30,704.93, and that taking the penitentiary as a whole there had been a net profit of $135,718.31.

Asserting that politics had been removed from the management of the State's penal institutions, he said that attention had been given to the help of prisoners, saying that 5 per cent of the earnings was set aside for them, the merit system established, schools conducted for the inmates, an assembly hall seating 2500 erected for use for religious services, lectures and picture shows, and a new tuberculosis sanitarium erected.

In the issuance of pardons and paroles during his administration, he said that not one convict had been released from the penitentiary by him except upon the recommendation of the Prison Board and that each act of executive clemency had been solely upon merit.

Speaking of educational affairs, he said 85 1/2 per cent of the general revenue fund of the State, or a total of $26,889,792.27, had gone for educational purposes during his four-year term. He urged liberal appropriations in the future for education.

Discussing good roads, the Governor said that while the war and the high price of road-building materials had interfered with road construction in the State, surveys had been made and much preliminary work done, which would be of great value in hastening construction in the future.

In conclusion, he discussed State departments briefly, pronouncing the present system to be simple, efficient and economical. This was construed by some of his hearers to be in the nature of criticism of Governor-elect Hyde's proposed plan to consolidate the departments into nine groups with a head for each.

organization still opposes repeal and that opposition was merely another attempt on the part of employers to curb the activities of organized labor. Some of the city's own construction work and others urged that Federal aid, or assistance from the State's $60,000,000 road bond issue, be sought for street improvements, but this is declared to be legally impossible.

BETTER-TRAINED TEACHERS WANTED, WITH PAY GOING UP

Member of Joplin Board Says as Many Instructors Are Overpaid as Are Underpaid.

U. S. COMMISSIONER AT HYDE'S MEETING

P. P. Claxton Declares Missouri Could and Should Spend $50,000,000 a Year for Schools.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 7.—Teachers were warned by C. S. Bankard, member of the Board of Education of Joplin, in a speech yesterday to the State educational conference in session here, that while they are demanding increased salaries, they also must give improved instruction.

Bankard said that during the last six years, though salaries in the Joplin schools have almost doubled, he, as chairman of the Teachers' Committee, could see little improvement in the instruction.

He said that many teachers are not well enough trained and that his observation is that as many teachers are overpaid as are underpaid. He advocated higher salaries with strict requirements for better training for teachers. He also advocated a rule requiring graduates of Missouri State teachers' colleges to teach in Missouri schools two years before receiving the normal diploma, that as well as those of the cities and that in their education by their department immediately for other states to teach.

Federal Commission Speaks. A new distribution of school funds to the end that of all revenue for school purposes, half be expended by the State, one-fourth by the counties and one-fourth by the districts was advocated by P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, who made two speeches to the conference. Claxton urged also that teachers of equal ability should serve the country school as well as those of the cities and that in terms of equal length should prevail in both city and country.

Talk that Missouri did not have enough money to pay for her schools was nonsense, Claxton said, reminding his hearers that the State had paid $70,000,000 for cigars, cigarettes and tobacco last year.

"I am not campaigning against tobacco," he said, "but if you had that much money for those purposes there is enough for the schools. Missouri should spend $50,000,000 a year on her schools."

Advocates State Board. Claxton advocated the establishment of a State Board of Education of seven to nine members, of whom not more than a bare majority should be members of one party appointed by the Governor, for a period of say, nine years, and only removable by indictment for malfeasance or like offense. This board, he said, should select the State superintendent who should be the most highly qualified and paid school official in the State.

State Auditor Hackman decried suggestions that the income or inheritance taxes should be diverted to the school fund, and said that should half the general revenue be assigned to schools the Legislature would have to increase the tax rate to promote the State government and maintain its institutions.

"If assessors and tax officials will assess property at its real value, and do their duty promptly and thoroughly throughout the State, we will have money enough and to spare, for the schools and all other purposes," he said.

Three sessions, morning, afternoon and night, were held yesterday, and two will be held today, the conference concluding this afternoon with the report of committees designated to frame the legislative program to be submitted to Governor-elect Hyde.

Long Speaker Taken to Task. Members of the conference were brought up right in their chairs at the night session held in the House chamber when Hiram Lloyd, Lieutenant-Governor-elect, who presided, took to task Chief Justice Walker of the State Supreme Court, for exceeding the time allotted to him.

Lloyd had warned Walker, who was reading his address upon education in general, that he was exceeding his time, but the speaker went on to the close of the manuscript. Lloyd then rapped smartly to terminate applause, saying "The last speaker exceeded his time 10 minutes, which will not be allowed with succeeding speakers."

CHILD AND A MAN KILLED IN STREET CAR ACCIDENTS

Fruit Merchant's Son, 18 Months Old, Struck at Dusk Last Night on Lee Line in North Sixth Street.

A child and a man were killed in street car accidents last night.

Gustave Cusumano, 18-months-old son of Peter Cusumano, a fruit merchant of 1210 North Sixth street, was struck and killed by a northbound Lee avenue car in front of 1216 North Sixth street.

J. W. Carr, 60 years old, of 706 Brady avenue, East St. Louis, died at the City Hospital at midnight as the result of a fall while alighting from a northbound Bellefontaine car at Tenth and North Market streets at 7:45 p. m. His skull was fractured. Policemen investigating the killing of the child reported he had been playing with his sister, Mary, 11 years old, and Libby Mantia, 10, of 1216 North Sixth street, when the girls became engaged in a game of "jacks" and the baby, unnoticed, toddled into the street.

The car, operated by Motorman Robert Neal, 68 years old, of 2940 Prairie avenue, and in charge of Conductor E. R. Tibbs, 25, 2517 A Bremen avenue, was stopped with the child under the rear platform. The wheels had not passed over it. The motorman said he was proceeding north at an average speed when he saw what appeared to be a paper or some such object on the tracks ahead in the center of the block. A passenger on the sandbox remarked: "There's a bundle on the tracks." He said he applied the brakes and reversed the power, but too late to stop the car before striking the object. A scream from the child, he said, apprised him of the nature of the accident. It was growing dusk, he said, and difficult to distinguish objects ahead of the car. A verdict of accident was returned at the inquest today.

Carr was on his way to work in North St. Louis when he stepped from the Bellefontaine car in front of the North Market Street Police Station. In alighting, he appeared to lose his balance and plunged forward on his head into the street. He was unconscious when carried into the station and later was sent to the City Hospital, where he died. The car crew will be questioned as to whether the car was at a standstill or moving slowly when the accident occurred.

must have inspired when they struck. The painting by Blondheim is hand-to-hand fighting amid barbed wire entanglements and machine gun nests in impenetrable fog. No doubt the Missouri doughboys who were there will find it quite as terrible as it really was. This was a difficult task for any artist, but one for which Blondheim was especially competent, since he was one of the American artists sent over to paint the war while it was being fought. It is the intention of the commission to supplement the work under the first appropriation with more paintings and tapestries, and particularly with more sculpture. If the disposition of subsequent legislatures is favorable to this plan, as the disposition of subsequent legislatures has been, the Missouri Capitol will take its place with those of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, New York and others of the states which have made their Capitols beautiful and attractive with art. The showing which the commission is making with the first appropriation impresses one as a great deal for the money. All the Brangwyn paintings, than which there will be nothing finer in any public building in America, are to cost something less than $21,000. The artist takes the fine position that inasmuch as this work is being done for a public monument, he ought not to charge what one of his reputation would otherwise ask.

WOULD STRIKE OUT WORD 'MALE'

Resolution to Amend Constitution to Be First Introduced. Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 7.—Miss Marie Ames, legislative representative of the co-ordinated women's organizations of the State, has completed arrangements for introduction as the first order of business in both Senate and House of a joint concurrent resolution to amend the State Constitution by striking out the word "male" wherever it appears. This is the first step taken by her toward accomplishing the legislative program undertaken by women's organizations. Senator Howard Gray, president pro tem of the Senate, and Representative Walter E. Baile, both of Carthage, will introduce the resolution in Senate and House, respectively. Miss Ames also has arranged for the publication of a weekly paper, "The Spotlight," which will carry propaganda for the measures sought by women and which will be circulated throughout the State to inform women of the progress being made.

JUDGES DISCUSS NEW JURY SERVICE RULE

Resolution by Judge Taylor
Would Stop Unconditional
Excusing of Eligibles.

A resolution to stop the excusing unconditionally of eligible citizens from jury service was discussed yesterday by the Circuit Judges in general term. It was introduced by Judge Taylor, who, with Judges Davis and Ferriss, was appointed on a committee to report on the matter at the next meeting to be held Jan.
29. It was predicted the resolution with possibly some changes, would pass.

The resolution, which if adopted, becomes a rule of court, provides that no person summoned as a juror shall be excused from jury service except he be exempt under the statute law of the State, nor shall any one be excused except on personal application to the Judge presiding in the division where such person may be summoned, or upon his affidavit setting forth the facts which exempt him from jury service.
It is also provided that no one shall be temporarily excused, except on personal application to the Judge or by affidavit for a greater length of time than during the term at which he is summoned, or during the next succeeding term; nor for a greater length of time than three months.

Intent of Resolution.
Judge Taylor explained it was not his intention to prevent those whose own business was so urgent that they could not serve for the time being from getting excused. The resolution takes care of this by providing for an extension of time. However, it did not seem fair, he said, that many persons, who by influence or other reasons, escape service while many others have to serve. Also, he said, the courts are losing the service of desirable jurors by the present system of excusing them.

For a long time it has been the practice of citizens summoned for jury service to resort to political or other influences to get excused.
Business houses whose employees have been summoned for jury service and others who do not want to serve, have been in the habit of mailing the jury summons to some politician, who would see the Judge and get the man excused without the latter having to come to court. If Judge Taylor's motion is adopted this practice will end. Politicians, by getting jurors excused, have found that the courtesy was a good way to help strengthen political machines.

Some Exempt by Law.

The law exempts from jury service public officials who receive salaries, members of the State militia and Fire Department, persons who are unable to read and write English or understand that language intelligently; clergymen actually engaged in following their profession;
practitioners of medicine, druggists, lawyers, ferry keepers, persons in actual charge of a mill, professor or any teacher in an institution of learning; persons over 65 years of age; anyone employed in navigating the Missouri and Mississippi rivers or their tributaries, or one who is employed in the actual operation of railroad trains. Persons of ill-fame and of disorderly habits, drunkards, vagrants or persons found loitering about without visible means of support also are exempt.

GROCERY PROPRIETOR FINED

East St. Louisian's Store Declared to Have Been Not Sanitary.

Bernard Rudolf, proprietor of a grocery store and meat market at Sixteenth street and Broadway, East St. Louis, was fined $15 and costs yesterday by a jury in Justice Brady's court, on a charge of keeping his place of business in an unani-mity condition.

State Bacteriologist Jones testified that meat which a pure food inspector submitted to him for analysis was spoiled. The pure food inspector said that when he obtained the spoiled meat a cat was on a shelf in an ice box, beside the meat. Rudolf was not in the store at the time the inspection was made, and said he was not aware the cat was in the ice box.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief
Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit.
Don't be bashful, for the druggists invite you and expect you to try it.
Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies.
For Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

Good Times Will Return In the Spring

As day follows night, and flood-tide follows ebb, so inevitably must the existing business depression some time come to an end and the inflooding tides of prosperity begin to rise. But what the anxious business man asks just now is, "When will the tide turn, when will the dawn break, when will the buyer cease from striking and the wheels of industry again begin to revolve?" To these questions, after a careful search of the daily and financial press, THE LITERARY DIGEST, this week, is at least able to give an answer from men who should know whereof they speak. Herbert Hoover, E. H.
Gary, J. Ogden Armour, Francis H. Sisson, B. C. Forbes, Guy Emerson, Charles M.
Schwab, Roger W. Babson, and Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board, are some of the men whose opinions are mentioned.

This article is of more than usual interest and value to the American public and constitutes a survey of business conditions and prospects that should hearten every reader.

Other striking news features in the January 8th number of THE DIGEST are:

- The New Kingdom of Yugo-Slavia (With Colored Map)
- The Employer's Duty to Employ Doubtful "Aid" for the Farmer
- A "Mock-Turtle" Home Rule Act
- Why King Coal is a Jolly Soul

1921—AUTOMOBILES—1921

Read the advertising pages of this big January 8th issue which is being used by many of the foremost manufacturers to focus your attention upon automobiles and their new 1921 models. There is always great interest in automobiles at this season. The leading manufacturers present their cars to the public in a series of automobile shows beginning with the great exhibition at Grand Central Palace, New York, opening on January 8th. Throughout the year advertising pages of THE DIGEST will present a wide variety of automobile accessory advertising news. For ten years the greatest number and variety of manufacturers have introduced their product to THE DIGEST'S market—admittedly the largest and richest automobile market in the world. In other words, the advertising section of THE LITERARY DIGEST is a perennial automobile and accessory exhibition.

Citizen and Robber Both Wounded
By the Associated Press.
TOLEDO, O., Jan. 7.—An alleged robber and a citizen who attempted to capture him, after an unsuccessful effort of the former to cash a check in a clothing store late yesterday, were wounded so severely that both are expected to die. The supposed thief is known as James Butler. The citizen is R. B. Kinkhead, 31 years old.

SURVIVOR TELLS HOW 200 DIED IN SHIPWRECK

Pilot of Spanish Steamer Kept Wife Afloat for Hours on a Plank.

By the Associated Press.
CORUNNA, Spain, Jan. 7.—The first comprehensive narrative of the wreck of the Spanish steamer Santa Isabel, in which more than 200 persons perished, was given to the Associated Press by Pedro Fal, a pilot living at Buenos Aires, who was a passenger aboard the vessel with his wife and the latter's brother, Luis Malda. They were returning to Argentina.

"We were asleep when the accident happened," said Fal. "The ship was struck by a wave, and immediately threw clothing around themselves and rushed to the decks.
We found people dashing hither and thither and the waves sweeping over the decks."

"The captain tried to calm the passengers, but without success.
Boats were torn from their davits and soon the electric lights failed owing to the flooding of the machine room when the engineer opened the valves to avoid an explosion. The wireless operator thus was unable to reply to inquiries relative to the position of the steamer."

"The obscurity and fog increased the panic. The captain ordered the launching of boats. The island of Salvora was only 800 yards away. At that moment the mainmast broke, killing many, while others threw themselves into the sea."

Boat Struck on Rocks.
"On the first attempt to launch the boats the crew made a rush for them and succeeded in getting one away, in which only the first officer, the doctor, the chaplain, the supercargo and one of the crew embarked.
The moment it touched the water it was smashed on the rocks and all in it were drowned."

"A few minutes later the passengers launched two boats, the members of the crew having scattered and giving no heed to the Captain's orders. These boats were overturned.
Then the remaining boat got away
after a terrible struggle for a place in it. It carried 40 of the passengers, but soon capsized. A number of the occupants, however, succeeded in reaching Salvora."

"I, with my wife and Malda, remained with the Captain and 30 others on the forward deck, which was still out of water. The cold was intense and the cries of the drowning were heard all around. We remained thus until 6 o'clock Sunday morning when we saw the steamer Cabo Tri-ana passing nearby. We made signals by burning paper with gasoline lighters, but apparently we were not seen."

Rescued Wife on Plank.
"Some moments later an enormous wave washed everybody overboard, separating me from my wife, whom, however, I found in the water. I am a powerful swimmer and secured a floating plank, which I fixed under my wife's arms. We remained in the water for several hours, when a fishing boat containing three rowers picked us up. A few hours later boats began arriving from Ribera and we were taken aboard, bruised from head to foot."

"I lost all the money I had with me and also 12,500 pesetas and 100 gold pesos which I had left with the supercargo. The captain of the vessel was an extremely skillful seaman. He took every precaution when the fog started, and steamed dead slow. It was the mountainous seas that drove the vessel toward the cliffs."

Among the rescued was a Chilean priest, Antonio Garcia, Des.
The captain of the Cabo Triana has been placed under arrest for not going to the assistance of the Santa Isabel. He admits that he saw the signals, but, instead of reporting this on his arrival in port, he went to bed and said nothing about the matter until the next morning."

MAN STABBED IN SALOON BY "OSCAR," LOSER IN DICE GAME

Edward Shearon Tells Police Wound Was Inflicted When He Sought to Avoid Quarrel.

Edward Shearon, 27, of 1825 Madison street, staggered into a drug store at Nineteenth street and Cass avenue at 11:15 o'clock last night and asked to be treated for a stab wound in the left side. He was tal-en to the city hospital, where it was said the wound was serious.

Shearon told the police he had been stabbed by a man he knew as "Oscar," in the saloon of William Doda, 1528 O'Fallon street, a short time before he visited the drug store.
He said he had engaged in a dice game with "Oscar" two days ago, and had won. While he was in Doda's place last night, he said "Oscar" came in and tried to quarrel with him over the game. He tried to depart, he said, when "Oscar" flourished a knife, stabbed him and ran away.

Doda and others in the saloon corroborated Shearon's statements, and said it happened so quickly they did not have a chance to interfere.

MINCE PIE

Prof. Childs, of the University of Pennsylvania, once prepared a treatise on mince pie.

In it he demonstrated that mincemeat does not necessarily contain meat.

Be that as it may, mince pie with meat in it is certainly better than mince pie without.

And that is why chopped meat is one of the ingredients of the mince pie served at CHILD'S.

TWO OF FAMILY KILLED IN BLAST WHICH DESTROYS HOME

Fancy Stock Raiser at Auburn, Ind., and Wife Injured by Mysterious Explosion.

By the Associated Press.

PORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 7.—Two persons were killed and two others injured, one probably fatally, by an explosion which destroyed the home of J. W. Sheffer, nationally known fancy stock raiser, at Auburn, Ind., 20 miles north of Port Wayne, at 6 o'clock last evening. Elmer Sheffer, 24, and Ellen Sheffer, 12, son and daughter of Sheffer, were killed. Mrs. Sheffer is believed to be dying, suffering from internal injuries. The extent of Sheffer's injuries have not yet been determined. The explosion occurred while the family was grouped about the table for supper. The blast shattered windows for several blocks and was heard several miles away.

Sheffer declared he had no known enemies and scouted the idea that a bomb had been planted under the house. An investigation by the local gas company is said to have shown that its mains were intact and could not have caused the explosion.

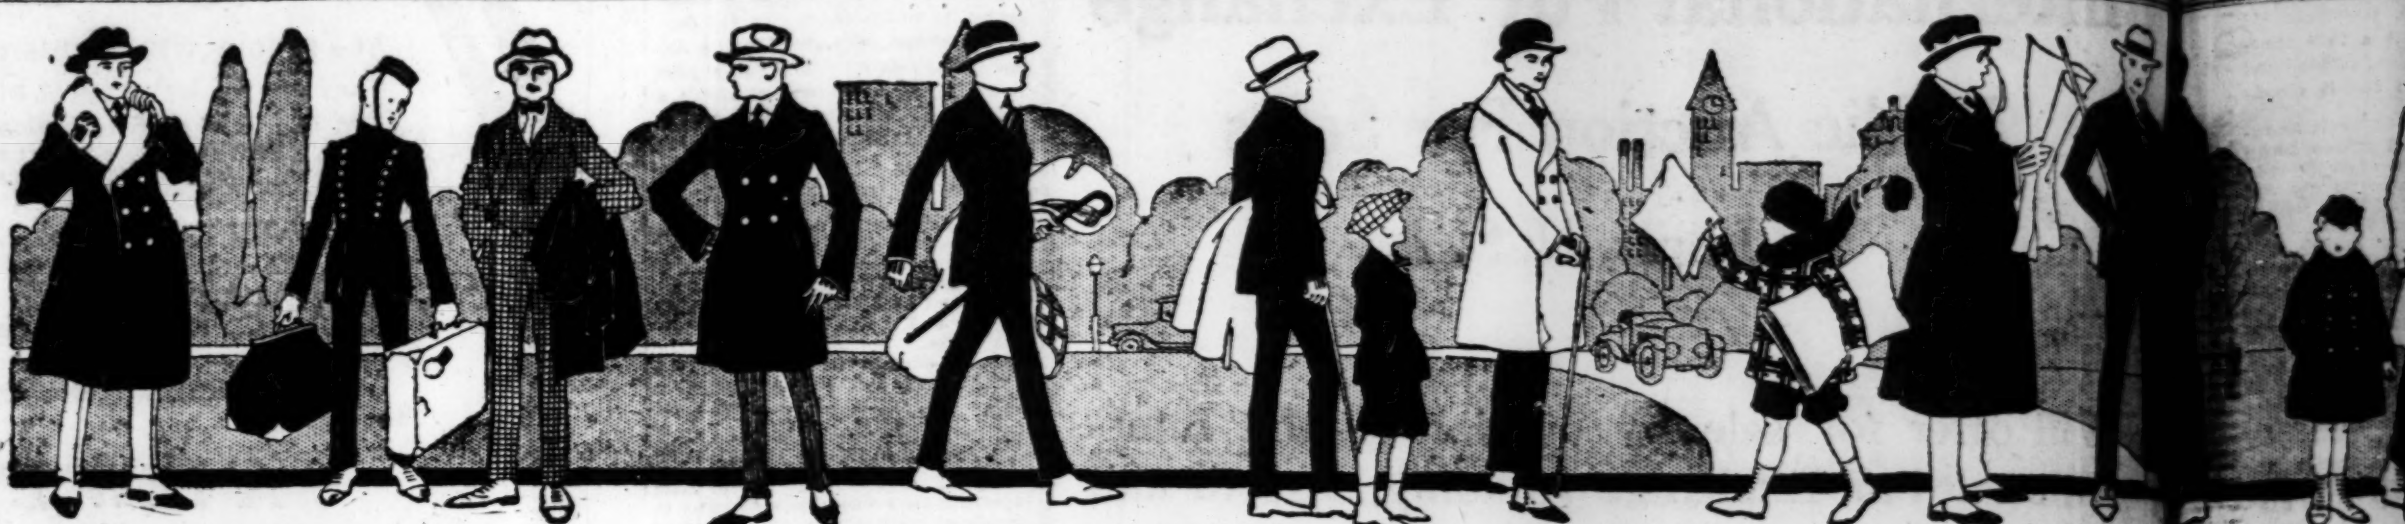

Legion Head Issues Order.

By the Associated Press. SALINA, Kan., Jan. 7.—The local post of the American Legion, which has been actively opposing the Non-Partisan League movement, now being organized in this district, has been ordered by F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the legion, to cease its activities in that direction, according to an announcement by Oscar A. Kitterman, commander of the post.

Clearance of Suits and Overcoats

Which Begins Saturday and Presents Our Entire Stock of Men's and Young Men's Fall and Winter Clothing at Savings

« This year the January Clearance Sale is launched under conditions particularly favorable to our patrons. When market conditions became unsettled some time back and manufacturers were eager to dispose of their stocks at great sacrifices, we purchased heavily with the result that now, at the beginning of our annual clearing, stocks are proportionately large. All this works to the benefit of those who share in this event.

« Our entire stock of Men's and Young Men's clothing is involved in this sale. Overcoats, Trousers, Raincoats, Mackinaw Coats, every garment reduced in price. Clothes typical of the best made by St. Louis—perfect in fit, in tailoring and in quality—the idea of the sale gained from the following groups, which are particularly emphasized Saturday morning at nine.

OPERATIC STARS' WRANGLING CAUSES DIRECTOR TO RESIGN

Signor Marinuzzi of Chicago Grand Opera Company Say Song Birds Gave Him Sleepless Nights.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—The resignation of Gire Marinuzzi, operatic conductor and composer, as artistic director of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, was announced today. He will resume his former position as one of the conductors, he said, although Herbert Johnson, executive manager of the company, declared he would not accept the resignation himself but would submit it to the board of directors. Signor Marinuzzi was chosen director at the suggestion of the late Cleofonte Campanini, for many years director of the company. "I could not stand the wrangling of the stars any longer," Marinuzzi said. "They have given me nothing but sleepless nights. Now I am just a conductor. I will not assign any more roles and when the stars have objections they shall have to speak to Mr. Johnson."

"Their voices have been in my ears 24 hours a day. Each one with a grievance, each one objecting to a role I have assigned to someone else. They all bring their troubles to me. I go home and pace the floor until 5 o'clock in the morning. In a few hours there are rehearsals. I get no rest. I cannot listen to their talk any longer."

Catarrh

Quickly Ended by a Pleasant Germ-Killing Antiseptic

The little Hyonol Inhaler is made of hard rubber and can easily be carried in pocket or purse. It will last a lifetime.
Into the inhaler pour a few drops of medicinal Hyonol.
This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze wick and now you are ready to breathe it is over the germ-infected membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyonol is made of Australian eucalyptus combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe.
It is guaranteed to end catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in two minutes.
Sold by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

It's Up to Boxing Fans Whether Missouri Has Government by Commission Or Omission

Wilson Failed to Announce Weight In Title Contest

Former Champion O'Dowd Declares Bout in Which He Lost Title Was Not Official.

ROPER AND SMITH DUE

Principals in Next Coliseum Event Are Expected to Work Out Here Saturday.

By John E. Wray.

Mike O'Dowd, whose crown as middleweight boxing champion was violently and, many say, illegally snatched from him by Jim Wilson, some months ago at Boston, came here into and out of St. Louis yesterday. It's characteristic of Mike to ease along everywhere. No factious accompaniment, this fighter, and no publicity for his hyperbolic managers pave the way for him with hectic advance stories. Applauds and silences are left in season. When Mike visits, he just drops in and drops out apologetically. In other words, Michael is modest.

Mike was in St. Louis en route East, where he hoped to obtain a rematch with Johnny Wilson, whose real name comes under the generally category of "wop" nomenclature, according to Michael. Wilson, it will be remembered, wrested the championship from Mike in a 15-round bout at the Hub, in which Mike's McGinnis awarded the verdict to Wilson quite unfairly, many critics afterwards declared. The bout was advertised as a championship fight, but Mike concluded that this was just the usual extravagance indulged in by pugilistic press agents, and entered the ring not expecting any of the headline stuff. McElroy, the referee, and a son of the Ould Sod, was a brother in blood, and the thought of the title passing to Wilson occurred to Mike.

Decision Arouses Objection. After 12 rounds, in which Wilson had stabbed and run, or jabbed and eluded, and once had punched Michael to the floor for three seconds, the referee unexpectedly violated all national ties by declaring that Wilson had won. The decision, which was a title claim, and Mike who voiced loud objections, was talked down and out of his crown.

"All right," Mike said yesterday, "they hung it on me and all I now ask is for another fight. Of course I could legally claim that it wasn't a middleweight championship fight. Wilson was over 160 pounds and did not weigh in; but I'm not talking about that stuff. What I really kick about is the way he has run away from me and has ignored me subsequent challenges. I see to-day where he says he has decided to stay away from me and has ignored me. If that's true I have a word to say. I'll wait my chance."

Mike declares that Al McCoy, from whom he won the title and himself an "accident" in the title world, was a better fighter than Wilson. O'Dowd knocked out McCoy, winning the championship.

Down is a rugged looking Turk with a cauliflower left ear and a nose-bridge due to incessant and hostile battering. He formerly fought football with a Minneapolis professional, and was a waterweight boxer when first he began to attract attention.

Roper and Smith Due Tomorrow. Capt. Bob Roper and Homer Smith, two lightweights, who will figure in next Tuesday's boxing feature at the Coliseum, are expected to arrive tomorrow. They will work out at the Business Men's Gymnasium.

Callender in Fast Workout. Knappe Callender, a St. Paul heavyweight boxer, who came to St. Louis with Mike, attracted considerable attention at the Harry Cox "gym" this week. Callender is a heavy punch. He fights splendidly and the gymnasium habitués stood at attention while he sparred. His work created a mild sensation among the onlookers.

Tonight's Feature Card. The Pastime Athletic Club show tonight includes the following bouts: Clarence Bell, New Orleans, vs. Ed Jacobs, Kansas City, weight 125 pounds, eight rounds. Fast Black, St. Louis, vs. Eugene Simma, Memphis, eight rounds, 125 pounds. Knockout Miller, Memphis, vs. Young Sam Langford, Toledo, eight rounds, 145 pounds. Battling Thompson, St. Louis, vs. Kid Henry, St. Louis, eight rounds, 135 pounds.

Boxers' Fight Would Not Here. Freddie Boorde of Birmingham, Ala., is seeking a bout in St. Louis through his manager, George Walls. Boorde is described as being 19 years old, weight 125 pounds. He claims a decision over Ashton Douan, the little New Orleans bantamweight. Douan apparently was concealing weight. Boorde's manager said he cleaned up all the boys in St. Louis, and is seeking wider scope of activity.

Simmons Is Expelled BY CHICAGO OFFICIALS

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Leroy Simmons, University of Chicago freshman, who played with the Hyde Park High School football team, of which he was formerly a member, in its game with two Lansing High School, Dec. 4, with the result that the Hyde Park coach was dismissed and members of the team were barred from all athletics because they had played for an ineligible man to play, yesterday was expelled from the university. David A. Robertson, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, in announcing Simmons' expulsion, said the youth had confessed that he was a "ringer" in the game and the expulsion came as a result of an independent investigation conducted by the university.

WEDNESDAY'S COLUMN

Get in Line, St. Louis.

KANSAS CITY boxing enthusiasts are preparing a big drive on Jefferson City, where our State Legislature is entrenched, in the hope of knocking the shackles of 50 years from the boxing game and freeing that much-oppressed sport. The news conveyed is that the American Legion will sponsor the move, which is designed to put boxing on a legal basis, abolishing its present state of existence on sufferance.

St. Louis in the past five years has completely outshone Kansas City as a boxing center, and yet the moves to have the game legalized here have been feeble and lacking in support. Senator Brogan of St. Louis twice has put a boxing bill up to the Legislature. However, men who were willing to pay high prices to see bouts here, were unwilling or unable to go to Jefferson City to make a fight for legalizing the pastime. The Legislature very naturally concluded that if St. Louis was so lukewarm toward the project, it could not ardently desire the passage of such a bill; and both times the measure was killed on its final lap toward approval.

The boxing promoters of this city have seemed hostile, rather than friendly, toward a boxing measure, perhaps fearing that legalizing the game would result in the invasion of newer and perhaps more capable promoters, and the consequent reduction of their own receipts. It is from the man who pays that support must come; for it is from the commission form of government alone that he can expect protection and clean sport.

If there is any substantial interest in the game here, if the friends of boxing are something more than mere passive well-wishers; if fans really desire to see the game brought out of chaos into order and good government and lined up with other progressive centers, St. Louisans should organize to go to the front with Kansas City hustlers. The combination surely can gain concessions from the Legislature.

Eighteen states and many municipalities are now deriving revenues of no inconsiderable amounts from percentages of receipts allowed under their boxing commissions. The argument of the Tigers certainly deserves no less a retaliation.

Braden's Decision To Enter Harvard Shocks Yale Men

Walter Camp, However, Hints That Brother Was Not Appreciated at Old Eli.

By Walter Camp.

(Copyright, 1921.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Announcement has just been made that George Braden, the younger brother of Jim Braden of Yale, is going to Harvard. This comes as something of a shock to those who know what a good football player George is, and who had anticipated his following in the footsteps of his older brother. But in other quarters it is not so much of a surprise because the friends of Jim Braden never felt that he was fully appreciated at New Haven. Whatever the merits of the discussion this would look as if it were true.

Jim Braden pulled out a victory for Yale in 1916 at Princeton, and he made Yale's score against Harvard in 1917 with the longest drop kick of the season from more than midway away from their goal. Those kicks were made possible by the patient persistent practice of years.

When Jim came back from the service he was pale and weak, but he kept everlastingly at work, and as a result he made that astonishing kick at Cambridge. If his brother has the same qualities he will be a great asset to Harvard.

New Swimming Captain for Penn.

The loss of Shields, the Penn swimming star, rendered necessary the election of a new captain for the team. Armstrong, the champion fancy diver, has been chosen to fill the vacancy. Besides his diving, Armstrong is a good swimmer and one who should develop into a first-class leader.

Harvard Invites Syracuse.

Previous to the eighties, Harvard has been quite the recognized leader in American college athletics. This came that long list of triumphs for Yale never equalled by any other college. For over 20 years Yale won so consistently, especially in football, not only to shake but really to quite overthrow Harvard's prestige and leadership. But in the last decade Yale, pursuing an erratic course with no guiding spirit or consistency of system and purpose, has permitted Harvard to climb back into the rider's seat and once more resume that position of being able to pick and choose her opponents. Anyone to whom she throws the handicap will feel flattered at the compliment.

This year she has selected Syracuse and has offered her place on the Crimson schedule, and it is more than likely that the New York institution will accept. Syracuse has had some wonderful crews and if she has an eight as good as her average she will make Harvard row hard to keep up.

Numbering of Players.

The pressure that has forced the football authorities in almost all the big colleges to accede to the public demand that the players be numbered has now been extended to two other sports—boxing and hockey. What the public really wants is usually given, and a start has already been made. Within another year or two the poor fellows, who formerly had to guess who was making the play in ball and hockey, and which of the amateur boxers was Smith and which one Jones, will be able to distinguish by the numbers on their backs and get a fair run for their money. Perhaps Harvard will wake up and number her players next fall.

Caddock to Train in EAST FOR TITLE MATCH

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 7.—Earl Caddock of Walnut, Ia., former heavyweight wrestling champion, probably will leave next Wednesday for New York to begin training for his match there, Jan. 24, with the present title holder, Ed (Strangler) Lewis. It was announced today by Caddock's manager, Gene Melady, of Omaha.

McCarthy to Accept Place.

ST. FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—William H. McCarthy announced here last night that he would accept the presidency of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, to which he was recently elected.

Bookers Pass Through.

The Ohio State team passed through this city yesterday on the last leg of its journey home to the Pacific Coast. The Buckeyes arrived at 7 a. m. and left at 7:45. They were scheduled to remain here two hours and a large number of Ohio fans who went to the station were disappointed at their early departure.

Billiken Meet Alton.

The St. Louis University basketball team will meet the Alton Y. M. C. A. five at College Hall, tomorrow evening. The Alton team is mainly composed of members of the Alton High School which won the Southern Illinois scholastic championship last year.

IN BOGALUSA.

IN far-off Bogalusa, where the orange blossoms grow, and the fields are white with cotton, our beloved Browns will go. Where the climate is mild and balmy and they never have a storm. There our first-division heroes will attain midseason form.

In this pleasant little hamlet, where they hail the coming guest. Hotel accommodations are the equal of the best.

The citizens are loyal and they point with civic pride To natural advantages that cannot be denied.

The Browns have been invited to this village to repair. To absorb the cooling water and invigorating air.

And get in prime condition for the coming pennant scrap. While the town of Bogalusa will appear upon the map.

In dear old Bogalusa, fairest village of them all. The climate is conducive to the art of playing ball.

Here's to you, Bogalusa, you're all right, but just the same. We cannot help but wonder where you got that bloomin' name.

QUITE SO.

Still, Bogalusa has rather a musical sound. You could rhyme it with John Philip Sousa in a pinch.

We hope to see a goodly delegation of citizens from Bogalusa up to see the world's series next fall.

Last week we read where Babe Ruth was going up into the Maine woods to shoot bears and moose and other things. Now he has appeared in New York for a permit to carry a revolver. Must be going after the high jackers.

TOUGH LUCK.

In addition to a record-breaking crime wave, Chicago is to have a six-day bicycle race. That's getting it going and coming.

President Sam Breaden of the Cardinals is expected back from Florida some time this week. Looks like first division.

Gene Riley wants a return match with Monk Polar. Gene evidently thinks that Polar isn't as much of a bear as his name implies.

Johnny Lavan has been appointed medical examiner for a local insurance company. With Reg Hornsby signing 'em up and Doc giving them physical status, the low down, it looks like a chance for some nice team work.

Boxer displays iron nerve by swimming 300 feet across icy waters of Monongahela River. The iron nerve was all right, but don't overlook the bone head.

The tobacco growers of Kentucky are going to reduce their crops 50 per cent. 'Up goes the price of cabbage.

TOO TRUE.

A shortage of tobacco leaf should cause no great amount of grief. For soon the laws will be so blue that we can neither smoke nor chew.

The man on the sand box says instead of blue law what we need is the enforcement of the good old law of supply and demand.

During the past five years or so there has been a woeful lack of team work between the members of the well-known firm of supply and demand.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 7.—Otto Borchert, owner of the Milwaukee American Association baseball club, was yesterday re-elected president of the Cream City Boxing Club.

Cardinals Proved Poorest Fielders In N. L. in 1920

Team Averages Show Rickey-men Last With .961—Hornsby Gained Only Honors.

Branch Rickey's Knot-Hoers gained no honors in the fielding line in 1920, if the fact that Rogers Hornsby handled more chances at second base than any other athlete is excepted. The Cardinals were absolute tailenders among the teams with a figure of .961 against one of .971 for the Pirates, who were the leaders.

Not a single Cardinal athlete topped the field in his respective position. In fact most of the St. Louisans are found closer to the bottom than the top. Fournier, official average released today show, was the worst fielder among the first sackers. He had 25 errors, seven more than any other third baseman.

Hornsby, who was offered 901 chances at the pivot station, fielded .962; Milt Stock at third had .939 and Johnny Lavan, shortstop, .942. In the outfield, the Rickeymen proved woefully weak as fielders. Clifford Heathcote was the best of the lot and he finished with a percentage of only .944.

Vernon Clemens, who did the bulk of the catching and was one of the three mask and pad men who worked in more than 100 games, was fifth in his position with a figure of .977. With a total of 111, he was third in assists among the backstops.

BEING ACTIVE ON EXCHANGE AND GAINS CONTINUE

Advances of From 1 to 4 Points Common Among Industrials—Steels and Rails Also Show Small Gains.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Active buying was resumed on the Stock Exchange today. Opening prices showed further advances over last night's strong close, and after an early reaction which carried many issues below that level, the advance was resumed. Buying of low-priced issues continued to be a feature. In early afternoon gains among industrial stocks amounted to from 1 to 4 points. It was noticeable again that the stocks making the greatest advances were those whose prices had suffered the greatest recent depressions, such as Crucible Steel, up 2 1/2 points; Chandler Motors and Steubaker, up 2 1/2; American International Corporation, up 3/4, and American Wool, up 1/2. In the case of Mexican Petroleum another attempt at lower prices was unsuccessful, and the stock advanced strongly for a net gain of 4 1/2, thus testifying to the discomfiture of the short interest. Among the rails fractional advances were the rule. New Haven being particularly strong and Southern Pacific the feature for weakness, touching 38 at one time and showing a small net loss in the afternoon.

"In the afternoon active buying continued and further advances were recorded in a number of issues. Toward the close steel showed a net gain of 1 1/2 points and fractional gains were uniform among the rails. Cru-cible was up 1 1/2 points, and gains among active industrials of from 1 to 4 points were common. Money was at 7 per cent throughout.

"Bonds continued to rise. A general demand that was responsible for the rising tendency in the first four days of this week continued, and the rising trend was unbroken. Advances in United States war loans were again the outstanding feature in December, but there were large gains in the 4 per cent issue and in the first, second and third 4 1/2s. Victory notes held positions slightly above the Thursday closing. Foreign Government bonds did well, in sympathy with our own war bonds.

"Strong demand for Sterlings.
"Sterling market opened in the same manner as yesterday. Strong demand was in evidence, the London quotations having continued to rise.
Last night's closing had represented a loss of about 6 cents from the high of yesterday, and this morning's early price at $16.25 reflected a recovery of 5 cents. As the market quieted down the price fell off a quarter of a cent. The continental currency movements, but Spanish pesetas were weaker in selling at 13.22 cents. Far Eastern silver exchanges declined in sympathy with a loss of a penny in the price of silver at London. Japanese yen, after reaching 48 1/2 cents yesterday, a gain of 1/2 of a cent over the recent low, slipped back to 48 1/4.
Canadian dollars were a quarter of a cent higher, at 98 cents.

"Speculative selling of wheat after yesterday's rally was apparent. The May delivery at $1.24 1/2, sold down 4 1/2 cents below the previous high and then rallied up to $1.24. March cotton opened weaker at 15 cents on a lower Liverpool market, declined 8 points and then advanced well to 14 1/2."

Wall Street News and Comment SPECIAL DAILY

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The speculative part of the market became increasingly important today, although not by any means at the expense of the investment section, which was the leader. The speculative part was most of the time in the hands of the speculators, who were buying and selling on the basis of the news from the East. The investment section was more steady, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds. The market was generally higher, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds. The market was generally higher, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds.

The bond market. Liberty Bonds were again the leaders in the bond market of the day. New high prices were reached all around. The heavy demand was for the four 4 1/2's, which at one time were up over a half point, although the market was generally higher. The heavy demand was for the four 4 1/2's, which at one time were up over a half point, although the market was generally higher.

Columbia Graphophone. Columbia Graphophone continued its advance here yesterday, following the general advance in the market. The company's stock was up over a point, and the market was generally higher. The company's stock was up over a point, and the market was generally higher.

South American Oils. Interest in all the South American oils was stimulated by a rumor that the oil of Venezuela was to be sold to the United States. The market was generally higher, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds.

COTTON FIRMS UP AFTER OPENING ON BETTER DEMAND. NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The cotton market opened on a better note today, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds. The market was generally higher, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds.

DOWNWARD TREND IN CHICAGO GRAIN; SELLING GENERAL. CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Estimates that the exportable surplus of wheat in Argentina and Australia would total 1,000,000 bushels had a bearing on the market today. The market was generally higher, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds.

LIGHT SUPPLY OF STEERS TAKEN AT STRONG PRICES. NATIONAL STOCKYARDS. Today's estimated receipts of cattle and calves, 1,000; horses, 1,000; sheep, 1,000; and pigs, 1,000. The market was generally higher, with the heavy buying of the day being done by the investment funds.

The SHANSI WOMAN by William J. Neidig.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT.

HE light was not strong enough to light up the features of the stranger, but even if it had been, he had pulled his hat down over his eyes so as to shade his face. It was this fact, in a manner of speaking, that enabled Harrington to recognize him. For a man whose head is completely bald cannot change his appearance by pulling his hat over his eyes. The editor knew that for matters, president of the creamery commission.

"A funny way to deliver milk," thought Harrington.

Not only was it a funny way in which to deliver milk, but the creamery man's actions of himself were of the oddest. Granted that a milk breaker and deliver milk on foot at bare break, why should he slip through his customer's front gate like a thief? Why should he sneak forward like a cat stalking a robin? Why should he not boldly enter with the milk, and as boldly set it down against the kitchen door?

Harrington thought it might be worth while to look out.

Mrs. Blake drew her supply of water from a well at the side of the house near the kitchen. This well the creamery man was obliged to pass. At the corner of the house nearest the well, and between it and the street, stood a cluster of scarlet haws. The bald-headed merchant stood in his shelter for a moment before Harrington arrived in the shelter of the same clump of bushes in time to see the coffee dealer empty the contents of one of his bottles from the pump. The action could not have been seen from the house, even had anyone been awake to observe it.

"Why did he do that, now?" he asked himself.

Furthermore, when the man walked on he carried the empty bottle with him, and when he came away after stealthily climbing the four flying steps to the kitchen entrance and setting his bottle of milk beside the door, he still carried it with him. Why did he do that?

The movements of the creamery president had been so dark-mannered, and his actions so odd, that Harrington followed him to the gate. He followed him further; through the gate, and with eyes at least, as was now possible in the better light, down the hill and over the bridge.

"Why this time did not stop to light a cigar, but at once clambered down along the concrete sidewalk. Harrington by now could see him clearly. He made his way through the weeds and grass to the water's edge, and then leaning over the stream, filled his empty bottle and sank it. He next very thoroughly washed his hands, then touching the bottle had soiled them. After that he climbed to the road, where, after looking carefully around him, he set out up the hill. He carried Harrington's clump of bushes with the coming light of morning all but full in his face. Harrington's first act upon returning to his home—for by now all thought of taking pictures had fled—was to call up Dr. Kenwood. "An emergency matter," he said. "Come quickly." Not a great while later he had explained to the physician what he had seen. Dr. Kenwood himself warned Mrs. Blake; he was able to get possession of the suspected milk, and of a pint or so of water from the pump before she had begun her breakfast. Later, he made a tentative examination of a few drops of each in the editor's presence.

"That milk is lousy with bacilli. Typhoid, some of it. The water, too. We'll keep this thing strictly quiet. Mrs. Blake doesn't know the whole of it, but she understands that her milk is infected and that she is to say nothing. What do you suppose was the man's object?"

"It looks like a development of the strike. Must be some sort of a frameup."

"Pretty hard on the innocent consumer."

"The man ought to be hanged."

But later on, thinking back over his acquaintance with the coffee man, he remembered his cramped office space and the awkward signing of the will, with the burst of anger following, and another possible motive flashed upon him—a motive that involved not only Baldy, but also Lissie and Breaker.

What if Lissie's husband were not David Bellew at all, but had been David Bellew's name? For he had recently learned that the David Bellew of the Chicago coffee trade was many times a millionaire.

That evening he wrote a trap letter to Lissie, telling her that Mrs. Blake was seriously ill. He referred in the letter to Lissie's marriage in the Blake home, to his own witnessing of the wedding with Mrs. Blake, and to the later pleasant visits to Eden Center of Lissie and Mr. Bellew in their Dundard. He also referred apologetically to the signing of the will in the Matters coffee store. He worded the whole in such a manner that if his suspicion proved to be baseless, Lissie would never know it had been entertained, but if not, immediate fires would be lighted.

This letter he addressed to David Bellew at his Chicago offices, the street and number being taken from a package of coffee in the display window of Matthew Matters. In reply he received a midnight call from David Bellew's attorney.

Which brings me back to Harrington's visit to the dark basement to see the French lens, his recognition of Breaker, and the attack upon him from behind.

Breaker was in luck all around. The missile upon the wrist had quite disabled his arm; his companion had acted upon too small a margin; yet he had come off scott free.

The man whose tale of a French lens had sent Harrington looking for a tailor did not have time to follow up his blow; still less was he able to make sure that the editor was dead. For even before he struck he had heard footsteps on the stairway outside.

"Beat it, Breaker!" he cried, darting upon the papers in Harrington's pocket.

Breaker crossed swiftly to the rear door, already ajar, and ran. He did not wait for the other, though he did hear him close and lock the door to delay pursuit. He made his way precipitously up the dark steps and out into the alley. A moment later he was lost like snow in water among the crowds of the street.

He reached his flat without being followed. Whoever the newcomer might have been, and whatever his horror upon finding Harrington's body, he had not hit upon the path of escape in time to stop him. No one saw him leave the alley, and no one was watching for him when he arrived at his own door. Of that he made sure before entering.

He found that Lush had not yet arrived.

"Hello," cried Lissie. "Did Lush tell him? Did he bite? Did you follow through? Did he make trouble?"

"We cooked him brown, but we had to beat it the next minute because we heard a guy coming." "Are you sure?"

"Croaked dead as Judas."

Lissie's face lighted with pleasure, and the pleasure was not a pretty thing to behold.

"Fine!" she cried. "Fine! Now I can sleep. Now I can be happy again!"

"We could have got along without all this muss," growled Breaker.

"I hated him worse than I hate a snake. I hated them both!"

"That ain't a good reason."

"Yes it is," said Lissie. "It is if I'm David Bellew's widow. Mr. Bellew is dead?"

"Sure, he's dead."

"You ain't so dead. Can't you see it yet? Both of them know you pretty good. All they'd have to do to spot you somewhere, and then what? You forget all that. We chewed that long time ago. What did he say when he saw you? Didn't he know you?"

"We could have gone off some place."

"You could, but not me. Besides you wouldn't go. You were afraid we'd hold out on you."

"You would, too!"

"You poor shrimp!"

The controversy was brought to an abrupt close by the ringing of a door bell. Something about the touch upon the button and the length of the peal caused Lissie and Breaker to seek each other's eyes.

"See if anybody's outside," said Breaker.

Lissie slipped over to the window, where she peered out from behind the loose curtains.

"Two wagons!" she announced.

Meanwhile Breaker had run through into the kitchen to see if the rear exit was blocked. "All off back here. Dicks everywhere."

"They've got Lush," said Lissie. "Good night!"

"We're it. Open the door for them, old girl. We can't do any good by fighting."

"Good night!" said Lissie.

Harrington was lying with his head wrapped in bandages in a room in Mercy Hospital. Beside the bed sat the attorney who lived on Sheridan road. Dr. Kenwood of Eden Center was also in the room.

"You say this man who called himself David Bellew was about to strike you with a knife, but just then you turned and he didn't? How do you know he didn't?"

"He couldn't, because I threw my camera into him and sent him somersaulting. There must have been somebody else."

"But you saw no one else?"

"I remember that my man had his eyes on something behind me. I thought his eyes were out of focus, but I guess they weren't. I guess they were only stopped down a little. What I can't understand it, why did they quit me so soon? How do I happen to be here instead of in the morgue?"

"Scared away," said Brett.

"What makes you think so?"

"Oh, I happen to know, because it was my man scared them. I've had you under my protection for some time. What made you go down in that dark basement? If you had stayed out of that dark hole you would never have been touched."

"A man told me a tailor down there had a whopping big lens."

"A lens! I see. You do pictures."

"He told me a whopping big lie."

"You came off pretty well, but you mustn't talk too much," Dr. Kenwood warned him.

"He'll have to identify them, doctor."

"I think we can allow him that pleasure, Mr. Brett. How soon?"

"Right away. I'll send down for them. I think we have them all, counting your typhoid man, who just arrived."

Harrington saw the attorney pass out, and a little later heard the shuffle of feet in the hall. Breaker and Lissie entered first, followed by Lush, with Baldy following him.

"Good morning, Lissie," said Harrington.

"Do you know these people?" asked Brett.

"This man is the fellow who sent me into the basement. I don't know him by name. These others I know well. The bald-headed man goes by the name of Matthew Matters in my town. He's the man who tried to murder Mrs. Blake."

"The charge is absurd," said Baldy, with dignity.

"This other old-looking man is the man who married Lissie Peters."

"He is not!" cried Lissie. "I never saw him until the day before yesterday. David Bellew married me."

"Not the Chicago David Bellew?" The attorney's voice was courteous.

"Yes, sir, the coffee merchant."

"The David Bellew who lives on the drive? That Bellew?"

"Yes, sir. I'm Mrs. David Bellew; David Bellew's widow."

"I don't see how that can be possible," remarked Brett. "Mr. Bellew was unmarried."

"I have the document to prove it!"

"What if Mr. Bellew denied the marriage?"

"He is dead."

"Before his death, let us say!"

"I tell you, I have the documents."

"Even so, did you know that in his will, Mr. Bellew made provision for his widow, if one should appear? That he left her $10?"

"He left his property to me. He made another will."

"I doubt if he signed such a will."

"You can doubt it, and doubt it. He signed it before a notary public and witnesses."

"You speak of a marriage. Is this marriage?"

"What was I arrested for? That's what I want to know."

"Well," said Brett, "I'll tell you. You were not arrested for pretending to be a widow, because anybody has a right to pretend that. You were arrested for trying to get money as David Bellew's widow when you are not."

"You might show me," said Lissie sarcastically.

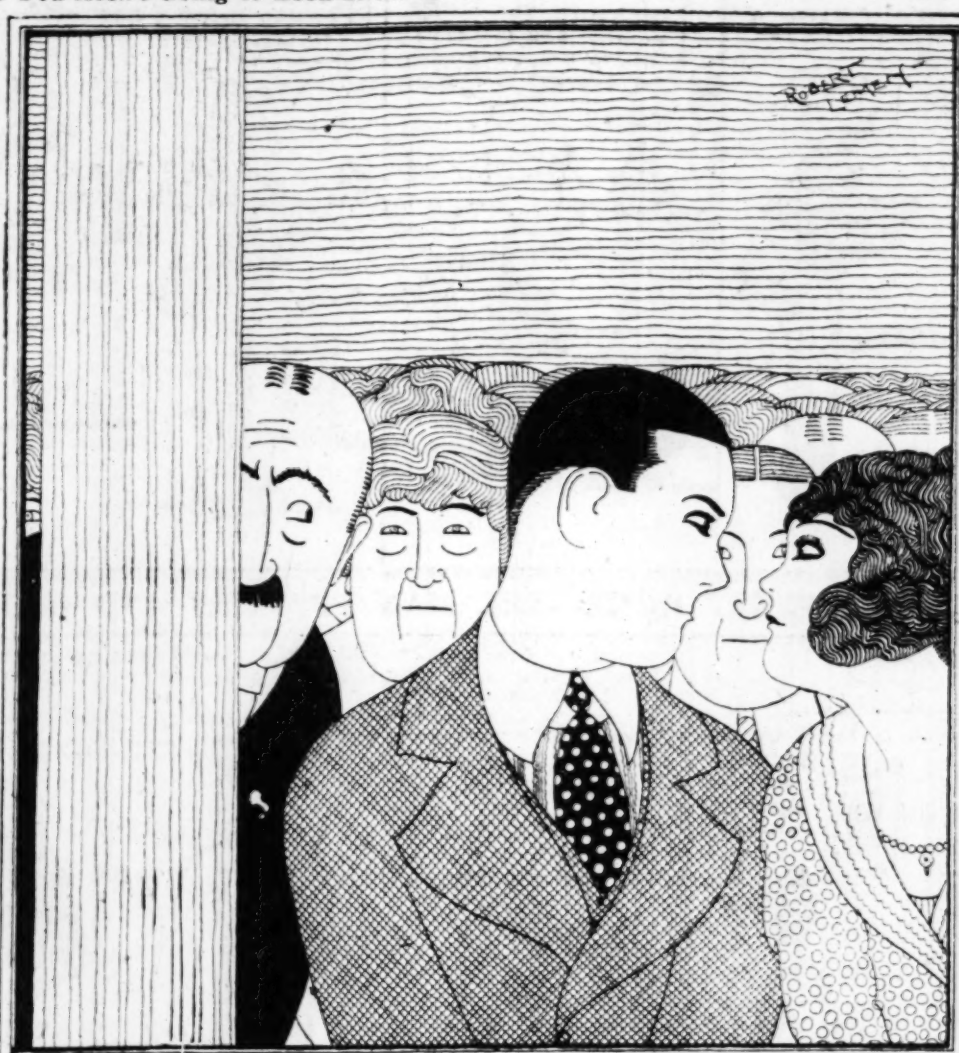

"Why you are not his widow? For the very good reason that David Bellew is not yet dead. You were doubtless misled by a newspaper article that appeared a week or so ago. I gave out the news of his death so that you would be. The amount involved was so large we couldn't afford to take chances. You see, some of his own servants were involved. His chauffeur here. You yourself had been a servant in his house. He didn't know whom to trust. Now he knows more about you."

"Mr. Bellew ain't dead?"

"He wasn't five minutes ago. In fact, he's waiting in the next room to have a look at this widow of his. Mr. Bellew is a very particular man."

"For the love of Pete!" cried Lissie.

As a Woman Thinketh

By Helen Rowland

WHAT writes a worried young man.

"WHAT are the qualities a woman that appeal to a man?"

"How is it that a little runt with a black hair, and goggles, and a pre-war salary can start all the prettiest girls in town fighting over him, while a regular, all-wool fellow, with plenty of war medals, blunders and muddles and sighs in vain?"

"Stop! Stop right there!"

"An all-wool fellow with plenty of war medals" sighs in vain for the admiration in these days.

And there is no black magic or mystery about the art of charming a woman.

Any man can be a woman-chaser, a "girl-tamer," a "heart-breaker," if he cares to take the trouble.

And to make the sacrifice!

Alas, so few of them do! You can charm a woman in seven ways, and only one is guaranteed!

The trouble is that it's SO easy, no man without "the sixth sense" can believe it.

You can charm a woman—the easiest and quickest method of all—by making love to her. In your own mind she is adorable, desirable, irresistible.

A woman's heart can fall to love for a man who loves her, and who has the courage to SAY so convincingly.

You can charm her by flattering her.

A woman can ever forget a man who has told her that she has beautiful eyes or a beautiful wrist, or a charming upper lip.

You need not wrack your brain for phrases, or call her "Wonderful" or "Dream-Lady," and all sorts of things.

Just say it with WORDS—"You are lovely!"

You can charm her by listening to her.

Such a novelty to a woman to be listened to—by a man; to have her own words, her thoughts, and her feelings, some brilliant non-sequiturs, taken up by him.

You can charm her by thinking of her.

Remembering her preferences, her dislikes, the things she said last time, the dress she wore the first time you met, her favorite color.

Just "thought" on the part of a man is a delightful surprise to a woman.

You can charm her by "taking of her" by chivalry.

Any woman loves that "protective" manner in men.

You can come right out of the other her boxing lesson, and

Why Are You Obese?

SOME people are fat because a remarkable organ in the abdomen, concerning which we have heretofore known little, does not throw out a fluid very necessary to the rapid combustion of food. The result is the accumulation of waste matter. Some are fat because the thyroid gland does not functionate properly, and in consequence of poisonous substances circulating in the blood these people are mentally and physically inert.

Abdominal exercises and suitable intestinal digestives will help the first class of cases, while thyroid extract will benefit the second class, but only a physician is qualified to judge them. Some years ago it became quite a fad to employ thyroid extract for fat reduction.

It did absolutely no good in many instances and did a vast amount of harm in many others, because it is only really indicated when the thyroid gland itself is at fault, and these cases of obesity are doubtless rare.

Many housewives become stout and wonder why, since they eat moderately and are active housekeepers. They probably confine themselves to such food as they like best and it is doubtless all right producing, while their activity does not constitute systematic exercise in the open air. The plumpness of these women cannot be translated into strength, for fat is not only fatal to beauty, but to health.

Deep, purposeful breathing in the open air is alone sufficient to deter the accumulation of fat, because it acts like a pair of active bellows on a furnace fire, quickening the digestive processes, eating up food rapidly and getting rid of residue quickly.

The average person then, in whom overweight is almost always caused by overeating and lack of exercise, cannot reduce successfully unless his habits are modified. Overeating no longer has the same significance to it as in former years. Until the present time, three square meals a day were considered a vital necessity; that was not overeating.

Even when afternoon tea and midnight supper were added to the three meals in the course of 24 hours, it was not thought an insult to one's digestive organs. Today we know that three square meals daily constitute more food than the body can properly take care of, and it is stored away and accumulated in the system as fat, or, if not assimilated, it clogs up the alimentary canal, interfering with the digestive processes and giving rise to auto-intoxication and the train of evils that follow in the wake of this exceedingly common trouble.

Peter Finds Mr. and Mrs. Lightfoot

By Thornton W. Burgess

Wherever he goes he stabs his toes

Who never looks beyond his nose.

Lightfoot the Deer.

WOULDN'T you suppose that when Peter Rabbit found himself free at last he would have headed straight for home in the dear Old Briar-patch? I would. But Peter did nothing of the kind. This was partly because he didn't want to make that trip in broad daylight and partly because he happened to think of Lightfoot the Deer.

"I wonder how he is getting along this winter, and I wonder if Mrs. Lightfoot is with him," thought Peter. "I haven't seen either for the longest time, not since the first snow. I believe I'll run over to the swamp on the edge of which Lightfoot spent last winter. He is as likely to be there as anywhere."

The snow had packed so that Peter found no trouble in running without breaking through, and away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, dodging between the trees, jumping over little white mounds, and all the time keeping a sharp watch for signs of Shadow the Weasel. But Shadow had gone in quite another direction and not even his tracks were there to worry Peter.

So Peter hustled and after a while he came to a sheltered place near the edge of a swampy place and here presently he found the first sign of Lightfoot the Deer. It was a path through the snow. To be sure, it was not much of a path just then, for the last storm had partly filled it, but it told Peter what he wanted to know. Lightfoot the Deer was spending the winter somewhere near, for no one but he could have made that particular path before the last storm.

So Peter hurried on, following that path, and presently he came to a place where many paths crossed and recrossed, all more or less filled with snow from the great storm. For some minutes Peter was at a loss which way to go. There were so many paths and they were so mixed up that it was hard to choose one that promised to lead anywhere in particular. A slight sound caught Peter's attention. At once he sat up to listen. His long ears were standing straight up. There it was again. Peter grinned and scampered off in the direction of that sound.

YOUR BABY

A series of articles prepared especially for the Post-Dispatch by the United States Public Health Service, Washington D. C.

THE child's body develops faster during the first year of his life than at any other period. For that reason a baby needs a large allowance of sleep, with the best sleeping accommodations, so that the hours of sleep may be of the greatest value to him.

Baby should sleep alone. Babies may be smothered to death while in bed with an older person, some part of whose body may be thrown over baby's face while asleep. The young baby should sleep 18 or 20 hours out of the 24. He should have 18 hours' sleep daily from a month to the age of 1 year. From the first to the second year he should sleep 12 hours. A baby should have the longest period of unbroken sleep at night and should not be permitted to turn night into day.

DAYTIME: The daytime naps should be continued through the sixth year. The baby should never take a nap in all his clothes. The shoes of older children especially should be removed. In hot weather remove all but the shirt and diaper from the baby.

OUT-OF-DOORS: Out-of-door sleeping in summer, both by day and by night, is good for the baby after he is a month old. He must be protected from flies, mosquitoes, shielded from the wind and sun and covered if there is a sudden drop in temperature.

The baby must have an abundant supply of fresh air day and night. He should be kept out of doors as much as possible, avoiding direct sun and days when the thermometer drops below 22 degrees F., because of the danger of the face being frost-bitten. In the summer time a newborn baby may be taken out of doors the first week. Begin with a daily outing of 15 minutes about noon and gradually lengthen the time in the forenoon and afternoon until the baby is out from 10 o'clock until 2 o'clock. He must be clothed properly according to the weather and his eyes protected from the sun.

PLAYING: A young baby needs rest and quiet. However strong he may be, too much playing is bad, as it is likely to result in a restless night.

Rocking the baby, jumping him up and down on the knees, tossing him, in constant motion is very bad for him. These things disturb baby's nerves and make him more and more dependent upon these attentions.

LA BELLE DAME SANS MERCI.

It seems had written it with an eye to subsequent movie production.

I met a lady on the plains—
Bonanza Barney's only child—
She aimed two bullets at my heart
But both went wild.

I repaid her when she hit the trail,
And though she scratched and fought and cried,
I said, "I sorta reckon now You'll be my bride."

I set her on my pacing home,
I stopped her shrieks with kisses ten,
And struck her footed for the church
In old Chayama.

And as I whispered of the time
When she would be my lady with,
She cut the things that bound her wrists—
She used her knife.

She said: "Be your lady wife?
Well I guess not, you pie face still!"
And then she threw me from the house
And off a cliff.

And that is why I scowls here,
Alone and palely listening,
Bonanza's daughter was too rough
For me, by Gosh!
